READING (Berks Co.) — Amy Eshelman, 16, who has exhibited sheep for about seven years, finally saw some results pay off — handsomely — at the Reading Fair on Monday afternoon.

Amy picked up lots of ribbons, including one for grand champion ewe, grand champion fitter, and champion Oxford ewe. She also picked up awards for several reserve champions, including reserve market lamb lightweight, reserve heavyweight, and reserve breed champion Suffolk.

Amy competed against 26 other exhibitors in a show featuring a total of 125 sheep. Of those, 85 were breed sheep and 40 market lambs.

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.)—The two-day dairy show at Solanco Fair this week featured a large number of head in the Holstein, Ayrshire and Jersey breeds. Only three Brown Swiss were shown and no Guernseys.

In the Jersey show Wednesday, Tom Arrowsmith, Peach Bottom, walked away with all the major championships by taking the grand, reserve grand and junior champion honors and was part owner of the reserve junior champion with Danny Sczerzon. In addition, Arrowsmith was named premier exhibitor and premier breeder.

Judge for the colored breeds was John Howard, a Willow Street dairyman.

In the Ayrshire show, Rob and Bonnie Wentworth, Quarryville, took the grand, reserve grand, and reserve junior champion honors. Mark and Kris W[illegible], Quarryville, had the junior champion. The Charles Young family from West Grove was named premier breeder and premier exhibitor.

Pa. Livestock Association Endowment Funds 4-H Team

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — The Pennsylvania Livestock Association has donated the first $2,500 installment of a $25,000 pledge to the Pennsylvania Livestock Association 4-H Judging Team Endowment Fund. The gift was made through the Pennsylvania Friends of 4-H.

"The endowment fund was established in 1986 to support state 4-H livestock, horse and meats judging teams as they travel to regional and national 4-H livestock judging competitions," said James Gallagher, Penn State professor of animal science and Pennsylvania Livestock Association boafd member.

The association donates thousands of dollars each year to various agricultural youth and adult activities, including the Penn State Livestock Judging Team, Penn State Block and Bridle Club, Pennsylvania Meat Marketing Program, and the Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

"We feel strongly that young people should be encouraged and rewarded for participating in activities that promote leadership, scholarship and responsibility," said Gallagher.

The Pennsylvania Friends of 4-H provides private support to recognize outstanding 4-H members, to develop volunteer leaders, and to enhance the 4-H program. Anyone interested in supporting the Pennsylvania 4-H Livestock Judging Team Endowment Fund or other Friends of 4-H activities may write to the Pennsylvania Friends of 4-H at 235 Ag Administration Building, University Park, PA 16802, (814) 863-1374.

Reading Fair Judge Names Elevation Pete Daughter Grand Champ

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.

MUHLENBURG (Berks Co.) - A 4-year-old Elevation Pete daughter captured the title of grand champion of the Holstein Show at the Reading Fair Wednesday, beating out a field of about 100 cows.

The 1990 Reading Fair is held at the Fairgrounds shopping mall, off of Route 222. Wednesday's rain and early autumnal coolness seemed to keep spectators away, but in no way dampened the dairy competition.

Taking the grand champion Holstein title was Jeffrey Davis's Daview Pete Ginger, but the Davis clan also came away with the reserve grand title. Jeffrey's sister Jennifer showed a junior 2-year-old, Daview Marvel Honey, an embryonic transfer daughter to Ivan Marvel.

JOYCE BUPP

YORK (York Co.) — Red was beautiful this year at the York Fair's well-attended open class swine breeding competition, at least in the judging arena.

County-bred Durocs took two of the three swine supreme titles, while a Hampshire entry snagged the third.

Northeast Chicken Parts

Wednesday, September 19, 1990

Trucklot buying interest was light with most buyers out of the market until demand improves. Supplies of skinned boneless breasts were generally adequate but additional product was difficult to place even with lower asking prices Whole breasts were fully adequate to ample and slow to clear. Line run breasts were easy to book in the low 90's with buyers bidding even lower levels. Legs and leg quarters were at least adequate at most points And wings were still short of current needs with some reports that supplies were starting to improve by mid-morning.

OPINION

A Word To The Wise Is Sufficient

President George Bush has proclaimed the week of September 16-22 as National Farm Safety Week. Every farm should have its own safety program where realistic training and accident prevention are a part of the management goal.

The National Safety Council recommends that all farm workers be trained in CPR and basic first-aid. Children should be assigned jobs suited to their age and capabilities and should not be allowed to operate heavy equipment or even drive the horses in dangerous situations.

Equipment should be kept in good working order and family members and employees should be taught how to handle the equipment properly. These powerful machines deserve respect and the operator should take frequent breaks to prevent mental and physical fatigue.

Pesticides should be handled with care and the instructions on the label should be read and followed.

Locally, many farmers are filling their silos at this time. To accomplish the task, machines often run long into the night. And the farm operators don't rest until the job is done. But we want to urge you to be sure to take a break now and then so your reflexes don't become slow and cause you to take chances with moving chains, belts and cutter bars.

We know time is money when you need to get a crop harvested. But we also know many farm friends who would give all the money they have to get back the arm, leg or loved one they lost in a farm accident. A word to the wise is sufficient.

To Be Aware of Frosted Crops

Colder weather means frost. In fact this is good news to many of us who have had enough of hot, humid weather this summer. Livestock producers who have fields of sudan-sorghum hybrids, should keep in mind that when frost hits these crops they could be toxic to livestock for seven to ten days following the freeze. After this period, and the plants are dead, they may be used safely. However, any growth coming from the plant after a killing frost might also be toxic.

Another frost hazard will be to permit livestock to graze alfalfa or clover stands while the frost is still on the plants. This can cause severe bloating. Allow the frost to melt and the plants to dry before grazing. Good management is needed on various forage crops after a killing frost.

To Prepare For Wheat Planting

Wheat is an important crop in many of our farming programs and the selection of good seed will result in a better crop next year. Growers should be very careful when using homegrown seed by planting clean seed. Certified seed would be free of any problems. If you are planning to use homegrown seed, then do an extra good job of cleaning and treating. Vitavax 200 is a recommended fungicide for seed treatment. The fly-free date is either after the first killing frost, which some areas experienced on September 18, or in southeastern Pennsylvania, October 10.

Just a few reminders on planting wheat -- it should not be planted in the same field more often than once every five years; this time period will reduce the fungus carryover in the soil. Plow the field as early as you can, then disc and harrow to kill as many weeds as possible. It's also a good idea to harrow the field thoroughly the day of seeding.

To Test And Weigh Forages

It is very important for dairy farmers to know how much forage dry matter their cows are consuming, because it affects the amount of grain that cows needs and how that grain should be formulated, according to Glenn Shirk, Extension Dairy Agent.

Inaccurate estimates of forage dry matter intake can adversely affect rumen function. Acidosis could result, and this can cause a whole host of costly problems such as: poor appetite, reduced production, depressed fat tests, sore feet, poor digestion and others.

Forage dry matter intake is affected by the moisture content of the forage, the amount fed and the amount refused or wasted. Therefore to estimate intakes more accurately and to balance rations properly, it is important to weigh feeds and to check contents periodically.

To Fertilize Alfalfa Stands

After the last cutting of alfalfa is removed, it is a good practice to topdress the field with a phosphorus-potash fertilizer. Many growers have been doing this for years with good results. The fall application permits time for the soil elements to reach the root zone of the plants and become available for next spring's growth. Well fertilized alfalfa fields will produce more top quality forage and will be able to withstand adversities much better. Also, after the removal of the first crop next spring, another application of plant food should be made. Research continues to show that a nitrogen application on established stands of alfalfa is not a good investment. Apply only the amount recommended by your soil test results.

Editor:

On behalf of the American Lung Association of Lancaster and Berks Counties, I wish to thank you for your important, life-saving editorial entitled "Don't Take Chances With Silo Gases," which appeared on September 8. Your message is certainly timely and is a fitting way to mark National Farm Safety Week, September 16-22, 1990.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE "DIRTY WORK"

September 23, 1990

Background Scripture: 1 Kings 21.

Devotional Reading: Psalms 36.

I used to know a husband and wife who were as different as day and night. The man was mild-mannered, undemanding, and generally accommodating to people. His wife, on the other hand, was very strong-minded and demanding. Those of us who knew them used to marvel at how different they were. The husband was usually regarded as "Mr. Nice Guy" and his wife gained a reputation quite to the contrary.

At times, we were curious when the husband would turn over to his wife a response that he could just as well have made himself. Eventually, some of us began to conclude that the husband sometimes used his wife to achieve what he wanted without having to bear himself the stigma for her words and actions. This man had learned to a perfection letting someone else do the dirty work.

Sulking for Profit

The story of Ahab, Jezebel and Naboth is thousands of years old, but is very contemporary in terms of human emotions and motivations. Ahab wanted Naboth's vineyard for himself, but he would not use his power as king to secure it. So, having failed to convince Naboth, Ahab used his tried-and-true tactic of sulking. "And he lay down on his bed, and turned away his face, and would eat no food" (21:4). You can believe that Ahab would not sulk if he hadn't already found in the past that it got him his way. If you have ever tried sulking — as I have — you've found that there's no point to it if someone doesn't respond to it!

He knew his wife Jezebel. "Why is your spirit so vexed that you eat no food?" she wanted to know. Ah, the very question he hoped she would ask! He sounds like a spoiled brat as he tells Jezebel that Naboth won't give him his vineyard. And Jezebel responds exactly as he had hoped: "Arise, and eat bread, and let your heart be cheerful; I will give you the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite" (21:7).

Whose Story?

So, Jezebel, who did not fear God as Ahab did, solved the problem quickly and directly: she had Naboth unjustly charged and stoned to death. Returning triumphantly to her husband, she says: "Arise, take possession of the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, which he refused to give you for money (see, it was his fault for not accepting your offer); for Naboth is not alive, but dead" (21:15).

This was the crucial point for Ahab. He could have said, "No, no, I didn't mean for you to go that far!" But, because the evil deed was done by his wife and not himself, Ahab feels no remorse and "as soon as Ahab heard that Naboth was dead... arose to go down to the vineyard of Naboth, the Jezreelite, to take possession of it" (21:15).

Of course, by now you should be aware that this story is not really about Ahab and Jezebel as much as it is about you and me. Are there not times when we, too, allow someone else to do our dirty work? Other people who we can manipulate? Our company? Our city government? Our nation?

Ahab thought he had kept his hands clean, but he was wrong. Take a look at yours.

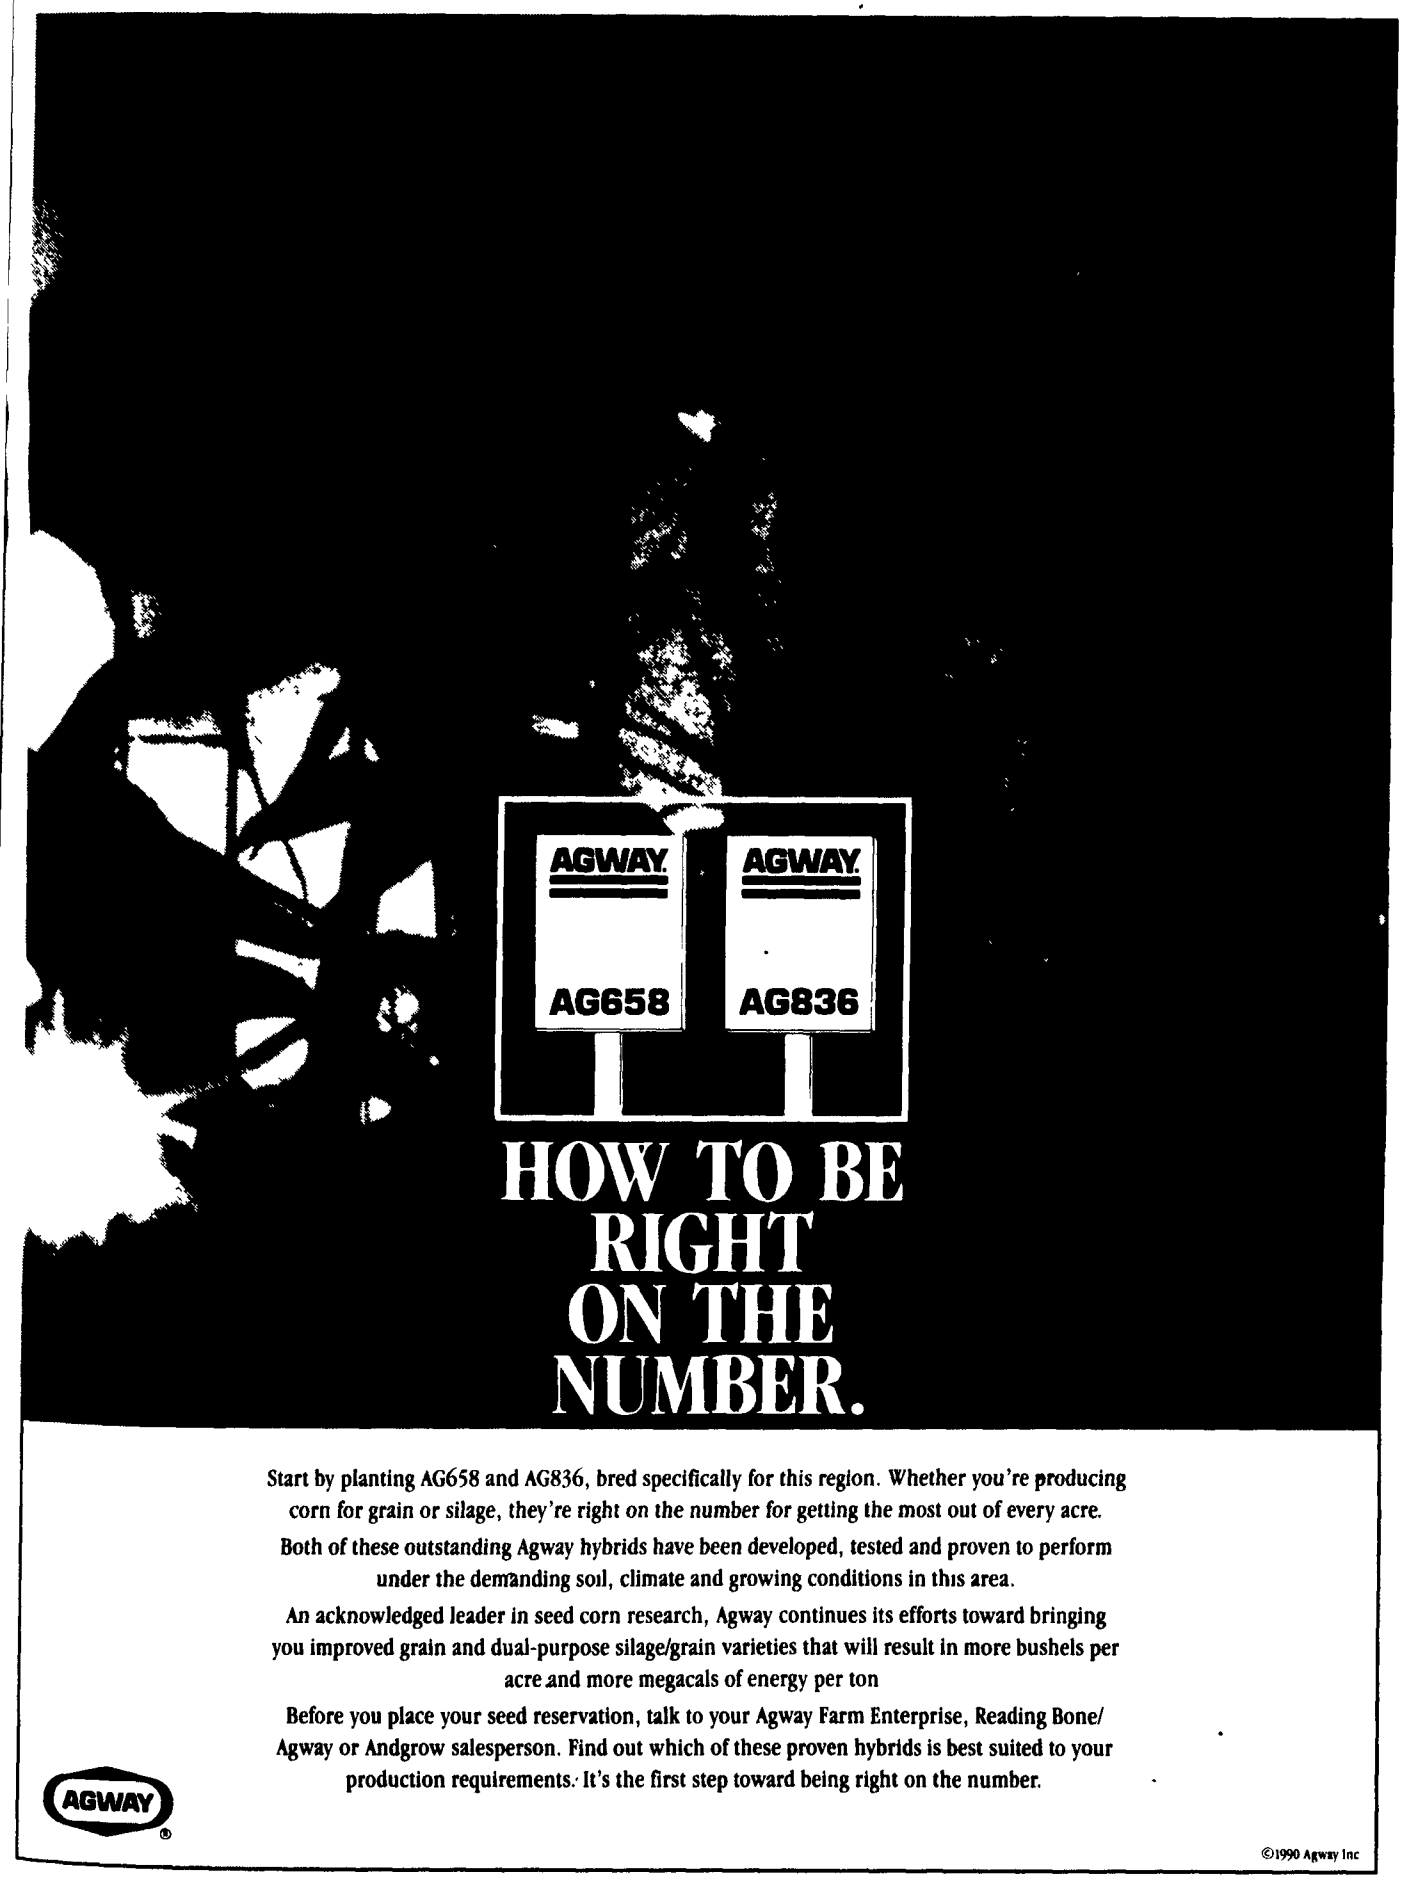
REPORT NOT AVAILABLE FOR TUESDAY, SEPT 18, 1990 - HEADAGES ARE CATTLE 137, CALVES 222, HOGS 151, SHEEP 3



Start by planting AG658 and AG836, bred specifically for this region. Whether you're producing corn for grain or silage, they're right on the number for getting the most out of every acre.

Both of these outstanding Agway hybrids have been developed, tested and proven to perform under the demanding soil, climate and growing conditions in this area.

An acknowledged leader in seed corn research, Agway continues its efforts toward bringing you improved grain and dual-purpose silage/grain varieties that will result in more bushels per acre and more megacals of energy per ton

Before you place your seed reservation, talk to your Agway Farm Enterprise, Reading Bone/ Agway or Andgrow salesperson. Find out which of these proven hybrids is best suited to your production requirements. It's the first step toward being right on the number.

ADC - For the Long Pull

"When non-members ask me why they should belong to Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, I tell them that ADC offers a guaranteed market, financial stability and outstanding benefits.

"We're the region's most successful co-op. In the past three years, we have returned more than $75 million to members in dividends, over-order premiums and quality bonuses. That's an average of nearly $21,000 per member.

"If you are not an ADC shipper and are having second thoughts about your own milk market, then you should talk to the one with staying power."

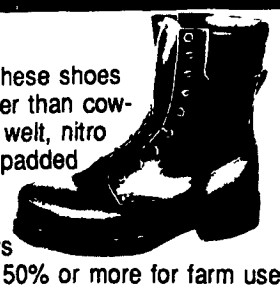
HORSEHIDE
GENUINE HORSEHIDE
Barnyard Acid Resistant American Made



Made of tough, long wearing horsehide, these shoes stand manure, silage, oil and grease better than cowhide. Shoes feature a genuine Goodyear welt, nitro cork sole that will not track, steel shank, padded collar, cushion insole and arch support. Ideal for barn use. Sizes 7-13 including ½ sizes. 1st quality. Our experience shows that horsehide outlasts good cowhide by 50% or more for farm use.

Manwiller Grabs Champion Denver Steer

DENVER (Lancaster Co.) — "Buster," a 1,157-pound purebred Polled Hereford, took top beef championship at the Denver Fair last week.

It was a first for Jeremy Manwiller, 14, of Robesonia. Manwiller has been exhibiting 4-H steers for five years, and this is his first grand championship.

The steer was sold to Wilmer Kreider of Stauffer's of Kissel Hill for $1,358.64, or $1.02 per pound.

Traci Gelsinger, 18, exhibited the senior showmanship award at the fair. She exhibited "Southern Comfort," a 1,095-pound Simmental purebred. Amy Eshelman, 16, Gouglersville, took the reserve showing with her 1,253-pound steer.

Jodie Weaver took the market steer division's reserve champion honors with "Abie," a 1,455-pound Angus. Blue Ball National Bank paid 91 cents per pound, or $1,324.05 for the animal. The remaining market steers sold for an average of 85 cents per pound.

Sisters Share 4-H Steer Honors

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.)— In what may have been a first -- at least in recent years -- sisters finished with the top two honors in the York Fair's 4-H steer show.

Named grand champion was Elizabeth Bishard, while Suzanne Bishard was pulled in beside her sister for the reserve champion steer award.

Elizabeth, 14, and Suzanne, 13, are the daughters of Brad and Lois Bishard, York. Their winning steers are Angus purebreds, purchased as calves from South Branch Farms, York. Though they fed and exercised the well-matched steers together, neither expected their side-by-side finish. Judge Gail Long, Centre Hall, praised the conformation and finish of the pair, which topped the quality 40-head steer show.

While the top placings were a first for the Bishards, both have several years of 4-H showring experience to their credit. For Suzanne, the win was an early surprise for her 13th birthday, the day after the September 9 show.

In preliminary weight class showing, Elizabeth's entry topped the reserve heavyweight steer exhibited by Susan Eisenhour, Wellsville. Suzanne's steer took its light heavyweight class over reserve place winner Allen Werner, Hanover.

Cathy Shive, Seven Valleys, exhibited the medium weight champion, with Jason Rankin, Abbottstown, taking reserve. Shawn Waltimyer, Airville, swept both champion and reserve honors in the lightweight division.

Following is a partial list of results.

Evaluate Corn Maturity Before Harvest

DEKALB, Ill. — A wet spring and delayed planting means many farmers are concerned they will be harvesting an unusual amount of wet corn.

But farmers can reduce those worries by evaluating the maturity of their fields now and beginning harvest as soon as possible. Growers need to examine their fields to determine if the corn plants have reached physiological maturity, the point when all kernels have reached maximum dry weight, said Craig Strosnider, regional agronomist for DEKALB Plant Genetics. That can be determined by two common visual indications: checking kernels for black layer formation and checking for milk line position.

"Growers checking corn for black layer simply need to scrape the cap of the kernel's tip and see if a black of brown abscission layer can be observed directly," Strosnider said. Farmers also should check for premature plant death which causes the drydown process to start early in some hybrids.

In addition, the DEKALB agronomist advised farmers to avoid waiting for corn to dry in the field before harvesting.

"Field losses due to dropped ears or lodging often outweigh the extra cost of drying higher-moisture grain," he said.

APCS Testing Can Help

BOB ORMSBY
Pa. DHIA Training Coordinator

Pa. DHIA offers over 25 testing programs. In this column, I am attempting to explain how each program works. For this column, I have edited an article written by lab manager, Linda Scibilia, for the June, 1988 supervisor's newsletter. The APCS program is well accepted and has some definite pluses. It offers better control over the refrigerated sample, increased speed in fast milking and 3X herds, as well as increased accuracy in some cases.

Understanding APCS

The APCS testing program available to members of DHIA appears to have created some confusion among supervisors and members alike.

Everbody knows what it is, but nobody seems able to explain it . . . at least not very well. Many supervisors have called to find out exactly how the program works, and why a member should consider buying.

Those who do understand what it is have questioned accuracy of the program as compared to some of the more traditional testing plans. There are a jumble of questions and issues rolling around about APCS. Let's see if we can separate and address them.

The letters APCS stand for are "AM-PM Component Sampling." The confusion begins with the name, because as soon as you hear AM-PM, you think of the AM-PM program and only one supervised milking. The AM-PM part of APCS applies to the sampling only, not the number of supervised milkings. With the APCS program, you still weigh every milking in a 24-hour period. The difference is that, instead of taking part of the sample at each milking, you take your entire sample at one of the two (or three) milkings. You still take weights at every milking.

The accuracy question is a good one, and has frequently been raised concerning the AM-PM testing program.

We all know that it is a rare beast who produces the same milkfat percentage in the morning milk as she does in the evening. It depends, heavily, on what the milking intervals are.

If the milking intervals (hours between milkings) are 12 hours and 12 hours, the fat percentage is usually closer than for intervals of 14- and 10-hours, but rarely does the percentage stay the same. Research has shown it can jump as much as two full points (2.60 to 4.50 in one case) from one milking to the next!

So how do we reconcile these differences to come up with an accurate lactation record for a cow?

The milk production is not a problem. We already said that all milkings in a 24-hour period are supervised and weighed. So as far as milk production goes, we are in the same situation as we are with a cow on regular DHI. The total of all milkings in the 24-hour period gives us the cow's 24-hour production.

The fat percentage, however, is factored using the same factors as the regular AM-PM program.

The factors used for fat depends on the milking interval preceeding the sampled milking. The actual fat percentage in the sample you send us is multiplied by the appropriate factor to give us the fat percentage that the cow would have produced had you taken a composite sample (a proportional amount from each milking). That is why it is very important for you to report milking hours as accurately as possible, and for you to tell us which milking was sampled, by filling in a "1," "2," or "3" in the milking box.

Sometimes the factoring brings the fat percentage up from the actual percentage in the sample, and sometimes it brings it down. We always end up, however, with the percentage representing 24-hour production.

The accuracy of the AM-PM program has been questioned and tested many times, and has held its own. Figures I have seen have shown AM-PM to be 96- to 98-percent as accurate as weighing and sampling daily.

Additionally, the APCS program is useable in DHIR herds, so the breed associations have also recognized the usefulness and accuracy of the APCS program.

Why should a member consider the APCS program over some other testing program?

Some will benefit; some will not. The primary benefit of the APCS program, in many instances is to the supervisor. The APCS program saves you some work because, at one of the two milkings, you only have to read the meter and record the weight-

Average Farm Feed Costs For Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's this week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania. Remember these are averages so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

SOME CONTROVERSIES NEVER END.

BUT THERE'S NO CONFUSION ABOUT NEW PURINA® HIGH OCTANE® BABY PIG CHOW®. YOU MIGHT BUY A LESSER PRESTARTER. BUT YOUR BABY PIGS WON'T.

Pigs prefer it. So they eat more. And gain faster. The research results even made us take a gulp. Pigs prefer New High Octane Baby Pig Chow by an amazing 2 to 1 margin — with feed intake increased by 10% in the first week after weaning — and an over 24% increase in average daily gain.

And that's not in comparison to some common, off-the-wall prestarter. That's when baby pigs were tempted by our former best. What's more, there's just no downside to this new prestarter. Feed efficiency is better, too. 14% better to be exact.

Our recommendation? Switch immediately. Pigs are pigs. We didn't have to pay them to say this product is better. See your Purina representative — and share a cold soda while you get the details.

LET YOUR PIGS DECIDE.

Maryland 4-Hers Show 382 Dairy Cattle

EVA MARTIN
Maryland Correspondent

TIMONIUM, Md. — The 4-H dairy breed show exhibitors entered 382 animals at the recent Maryland State Fair.

Judging the Guernsey, Brown Swiss and Shorthorn Shows was Mary Creek from Palmyra Farm near Hagerstown.

James Burdette, a renown Holstein Breeder from Mercersburg, Pa., judged the Jersey, Ayrshire and Holstein Shows.

The University of Maryland College of Agriculture began a new award this year to recognize the effort and achievement of the Fitting and Showmanship Champions. These awards were created to attract and encourage students to pursue careers in agriculture or pre-veterinary medicine at the University of Maryland.

The recipients of this award were: Rodney Kline, Milking Shorthorn; D.J. Burdette, Jersey; Christopher Savage, Holstein; Brian Schnebly, Guernsey; Chad Umbel, Brown Swiss; Rachel Clark, Ayrshire.

4-Hers Compete For York Swine Awards

Along with numerous 4-H winnings, Matt Trostle snagged the champion title with his spotted boar.

Champion exhibitor in the York Fair 4-H market hog runoffs was Matt Sellers' Hampshire-Duroc crossbred.

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — Matt Sellers' pigs go take a hike every day. Housed on a hillside, the hogs enthusiastically hustle from their resting quarters at the bottom of the slope to the feeding trough at the top.

That exercise, figures the 14-year-old 4-H member, helped put his market hogs in a state of judge-pleasing physical fitness. It also won him the champion title over a field of more than 60 entries in the 4-H market hog competition.

Matt's 232-pound Hampshire-Duroc crossbred also won championship of its light heavyweight division. Purchased from swine breeder Frank Feeser, the winning hog was one of seven project pigs raised by the four-year 4-H veteran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Sellers, Thomasville R1. Earlier in the fair's run, Matt exhibited the champion 4-H market lamb.

"I walk them a lot, about a half-mile every day," he said of the four hogs raised this year for 4-H project pigs. Jimmy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Neutzel.

Lightweight division champion was exhibited by Greg Bankert, Hanover, with Jason Rankin, Abbottstown, in the reserve spot. Champion medium weight honors went to Alishia Eberly, over the

4-H Youth Show Dairy Cattle At Susquehanna Districts

BEAVER SPRINGS (Snyder Co.)— From the 121 Holsteins 4-H'ers presented at the 44th Susquehanna District 4-H Dairy Show, type judge Creedin Corman of Carlisle selected Sarah Dum's Sexation aged cow as grand champion.

The show was held in Beaver Springs, Snyder County, on August 31 for 4-H winners in Centre, Clinton, Juniata, Lycoming, Mifflin, Montour, Northumberland, Perry, Snyder, and Union County shows.

Dairyness and bloom, especially in the udder, are the reasons judge Corman gave for selecting Dumbelle Sexation Iva. Owner Sarah Dum is from Landisburg in Perry County.

Reserve Champion Holstein was Lodestar Magnificent Magic, also a Sexation aged cow, exhibited by Adam Tanis of Centre County. For best bred and owned Walnut-Hills Astro Brigette, a junior yearling shown by Dianne Glock of Juniata County, stood first. Brigette was also the Reserve Junior Champion.

Four Springs Admiral Maggie reigned supreme in the 23-head Jersey competition. Showing the junior two-year-old was Douglas Boop of Millmont in Union County. Another Four Springs cow, three-year-old High C. Nellie Sue, shown by Lynne Rearick of Centre County, was reserve champion.

Jonathan Dietrich of Union County exhibited the best bred & owned Jersey, a senior calf which was also the junior champion. Douglas Boop's junior yearling, Four Springs Midnight Sun, was the reserve junior champion.

Six Brown Swiss competed with these results: grand champion, DML Jupiter Candy, Eric St. Clair, Northumberland County; reserve grand and junior champion, My T Fine Snowwhite, Amy Jo Sanders, Union County; best bred & owned and reserve junior champion, Victory Acres Startrek Amy, Jeremy Daubert, Clinton County.

Of three Ayrshires shown by Darryl Lovell of Lycoming County, the grand and junior champion was Lov-Dale Ari's Annie, a junior calf. Reserve grand and reserve junior champion went to Lov-Dale SP Fair Surprise.

The lone Guernsey entered was Alfa Mar View Anna Maria, a senior yearling belonging to Rhonda Peterman of Lycoming County.

Giving pointers to every exhibitor as well as giving ribbons in each class were showmanship judge Tom Maloney, Towanda, and fitting judge Dick Yule, Millville.

Montgomery County 4-H Holds Roundup

CREAMERY (Montgomery Co.) — The Montgomery County 4-H Dairy Roundup was held recently at the Montgomery County 4-H Center here as part of the 4-H Fair.

A total of 40 animals with all six major dairy breeds represented were exhibited by 20 members of the Montgomery County 4-H Dairy Club. The dairy cattle were judged for type (body structure) and fitting (how well the animal is groomed). In addition, each 4-Her was judged on his ability to show his bovine during the contest.

Champions for the six breeds were as follows: Ayrshire, Seth Wolfgang of Bechtelsville; Brown Swiss, Cindy Moser of Barto; Guernsey, Karen Wolfgang of Bechtelsville; Holstein, Cindy Moser; Jersey, Danielle Breaux of Salfordville; and Milking Shorthorn, Danielle Breaux. Reserve Champions for the 4 of the 6 breeds were as follows: Ayrshire, Seth Wolfgang of Bechtelsville; Guernsey, Brenda Wolfgang of Bechtelsville; Holstein, Cindy Moser; and Jersey, Paul Plummer of Chalfont.

The fitting and showing portion of the dairy show was divided into two age groups. Juniors (Jr.) are between the ages of 8 and 13 and Seniors (Sr.) are from 14 to 19 years old. Both the Jr. fitting and Jr. showman awards were won by Danielle Breaux.

Katie Sterner of Bechtelsville won second place in Jr. fitting and David Sterner of Bechtelsville won second place in the Jr. showman contest. For the Sr. 4-Hers, Cindy Moser and Paul Plummer won first and second place in the fitting contest; and Brenda Wolfgang and Cindy Moser won first and second place in the showman contest, respectively. In addition, Amy Plummer of Chalfont received a first-year showmanship award.

All participants of the 4-H dairy show were required to complete a project book for each animal.

The 4-H dairy experience is intended to teach basics in how to care for animals and some of the economics involved with raising dairy animals. For more information on Montgomery County's 4-H dairy program contact Tim Fritz at (215) 489-4315.

All-forged Hook-Link® chain... available on Super 300 and Super 500 barn cleaners

Extra thick steel at all wear points

IMPORTANT: Look for the "parting line" on any barn cleaner chain you buy. It shows where excess metal has been trimmed off. It is your assurance that the link was totally forged, not just punched out of a flat steel bar with grain flow in one direction only.

You want a totally-forged link because forging changes the grain of the steel, causing it to curve in unbroken flow lines around the contours of the link, giving the link greater strength to serve you longer.

Oxford Ewe Named Best Of Breeds

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

DENVER (Lancaster Co.) - A yearling Oxford ewe and a Southdown ram were named the top of the breeds in a six-breed show last week at the Denver Fair Junior Sheep Show.

The selection of grand champions of all breeds culminated a six-hour show, the largest to date for the Denver event.

Sheep judge Clyde Brubaker, of Robesonia, Lebanon County, saw 32 exhibitors from Berks and Lancaster counties show 49 market lamb and 84 breeding sheep.

Taking the title for top showman was Joyce Heffner who competed as a fourth year and older 4-H member. Experience apparently also ruled as reserve champion showman was secured by Amy Eshleman, who place second to Heffner in the class competition.

Eshleman contiued her level of competition, also showing the reserve champion market lamb. A lamb owned by Lisa Reiff took the top title for grand champion.

Accoridng to Marilyn Martin, who with husband John chaired the event, next year's sheep show is to start earlier in the day. With this year's 6 p.m. start, final judging finished just after midnight.

Martin said the event had been planned based on a 100-sheep entry, but ran over because of an unanticipated 140 entries.

The results of the show were:

Also, board member Robert Gabel of Newport, Pa., will report on a major restructuring of the districts within the co-op, and board member Noel Davis of Unadilla, N.Y., will discuss membership trends.

A number of awards, including the Top Ten Quality Farmers, will highlight the annual banquet, which will get under way at 6:30 p.m., Sept. 27.

FOCUS

. . . no sampling necessary. This does, in fact, save the dairyman time as well, and that is the primary benefit to him, or her.

If you are trying to convince some of you members to use the APCS program instead of the traditional DHI, keep a couple of things in mind.

First, and most important for you to remember, the APCS program will not appeal to everyone. Just like the regular AM-PM, there are people who doubt the accuracy of the program, and they may never buy the idea.

Secondly, the accuracy of his records may actually increase by using the APCS program. How so? Well, just like with fat percentage, a cow rarely produces the same amount of milk at each milking. To take a proportionate sample, if she produces 35 pounds in the evening and 43 pounds in the morning, means you should be taking less of your sample in the evening and more in the morning. Most of feel lucky to get some from each milking and end up with the right amount in the vial.

The point is, we try to take a proper proportionate sample, and most of the time it is reasonably close, but with APCS you don't have that to worry about. You just take a sample at a single milking, give the computer the milking hours, and it does the rest.

The primary benefit of APCS to the member is time savings.

Knowing that, we can safely say that the primary prospects will be large, fast milking herds. If you slow down the milking process on test day, and the dairyman is always trying to get you to speed up, APCS might be just the trick to speed up one of the two milkings you supervise!

Don't be frustrated with members who choose a plan other than APCS.

It just isn't for everyone any more than something like owner-sampler. Members choose testing plans for various reasons, convenience being only one. If you or any of your members have questions concerning the APCS program, how it works, etc. please give us a call. We would be happy to discuss it.

ULTRAFLO OUT-PERFORMS CHAIN

45 Million Birds In 5 Years Prove It

Chore-Time's ULTRAFLO® feeder for layers, pullets and breeders

We have probably been too modest up to now about the merits of our new generation ULTRAFLO® cage feeder vs. the old style chain feeders some of our competitors are still trying to sell you. In fact, the only negative comments about our feeder come from our competition, not our customers. So we would like to point out the bare facts:

FEED SAVINGS: On-farm results show a feed savings of ½ lb. per 100 birds per day – over $10,000 per year savings on a 100,000-bird house. Year after year.

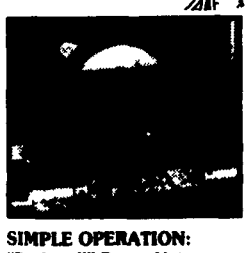
TROUBLE-FREE DESIGN: Our feeder has only two moving parts – the one-piece auger plus each drive wheel; their chain has more. Our corners are heavy 12 ga. zinc plated tubing for long life; their corners have a reputation for trouble and short life

PROVEN DESIGN: Over 45 million birds are already on our feeder worldwide. Also, it was proven in 5 years of on-farm testing before introduction.

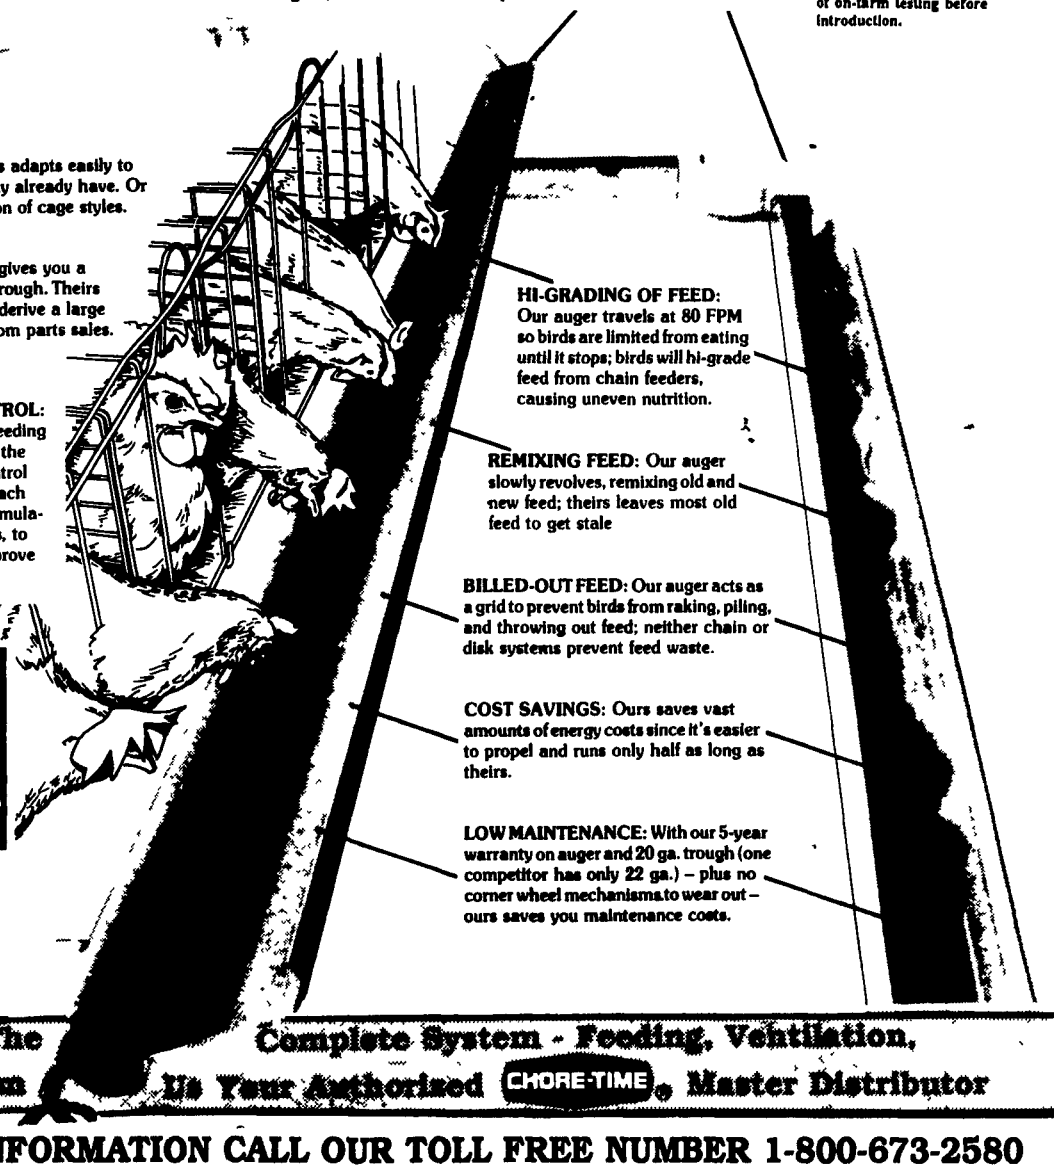
EASY ADAPTABILITY: Ours adapts easily to existing cage systems you may already have. Or choose from our wide selection of cage styles.

5-YEAR WARRANTY: Ours gives you a 5-year warranty on auger and trough. Theirs doesn't. In fact, their dealers derive a large percentage of their income from parts sales. Ours don't.

MICROPROCESSOR CONTROL: Our control lets you program feeding time to the second, to match the exact time of one circuit. Control number of feedings, time of each feeding – also 10-second "Stimulation Cycles" between feedings, to minimize separation, and improve your birds' feed intake.



SIMPLE OPERATION: "Push-pull" Power Units with ⅓ or ½ HP motor are located in a cage, have hardened steel gears for trouble-free operation.



HI-GRADING OF FEED: Our auger travels at 80 FPM so birds are limited from eating until it stops; birds will hi-grade feed from chain feeders, causing uneven nutrition.

REMIXING FEED: Our auger slowly revolves, remixing old and new feed; theirs leaves most old feed to get stale

BILLED-OUT FEED: Our auger acts as a grid to prevent birds from raking, piling, and throwing out feed; neither chain or disk systems prevent feed waste.

COST SAVINGS: Ours saves vast amounts of energy costs since it's easier to propel and runs only half as long as theirs.

LOW MAINTENANCE: With our 5-year warranty on auger and 20 ga. trough (one competitor has only 22 ga.) – plus no corner wheel mechanisms to wear out – ours saves you maintenance costs.

Reiff Tops Sheep Show

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — A brother and sister duo from Strasburg raise 11 sheep to compete in numerous county shows. The day before each show, the duo take turns choosing who will show which sheep.

Since Lisa Reiff won at at Elizabethtown and Denver competitions, she thought it was her brother's turn to win at the Solanco Sheep Show. Lyndon wasn't disappointed. His heavyweight Suffolk wether, named Bayou Kula, beat 14 entries for the champion market lamb title.

Dr. Robert Herr, show judge from Narvon, also chose Lyndon as the top showman and fitter. Herr said, "When it comes to sheep, I believe cleanliness is next to godliness. The flank must be clean, the ears thoroughly clean, not partially."

A spokesperson for the fair said that Dr. Herr was chosen to judge the event in celebration of the fair's 15th sheep show. Dr. Herr had judged the first sheep show held at Solanco in 1975.

Lyndon and Lisa are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Reiff, Strasburg. Lyndon said that his prize-winning champion named after a race horse was purchased from B&B Livestock in Ohio. This is the fifth year of showing for Lyndon who saves part of his prize money for college and spends the rest on shopping.

Jill Harnish won the reserve market lamb placing with Nancy, her FFA project animal. Jill, 15, is the daughter of Ed and Arla Harnish of Ninepoints.

In the junior fitting division, Jill Harnish placed first. Scott Wagner placed first in junior showmanship and went on to take reserve championship honors in showmanship for the show.

Maryland Holstein Association Recognizes Oustanding Members

EVA MARTIN
Maryland Correspondent

TIMONIUM, Md.— To recognize outstanding achievements and accomplishments, each year during the Holstein show at the Maryland State Fair special awards are presented.

The Breed Improvement Committee of the Maryland Holstein Association, chaired by Jeff Myers, made selections for 1990: Outstanding Senior Breeder, Roger Myers; Outstanding Junior Breeder, Gary Derr; Distinguished Service Award, Dr. Lee Majeskie.

During intermission of the Holstein show, Myers summoned Dr. Majeskie to help present the awards. A very surprised and shocked Dr. Majeskie learned that he would be the recipient of the service award.

Distinguished Service Award

Lee was born and raised on a Holstein farm in Wisconsin. By way of college degrees from both Wisconsin and Kansas, and experience as a Brown Swiss fieldman, Majeskie came to the University of Maryland as a dairy extension specialist in 1975.

He is familiar to most dairymen in Maryland as Lee. He is also known for his eagerness to meet every dairyman in the state and is acknowledged for his efforts, which far exceed the requirements of his job.

The enterprising role Majeskie plays in the Maryland Holstein Association goes far beyond his involvement in shows and conventions. He actively participates with committees such as Breed Improvement, Program Development & Evaluation, and Scholarship. Lee is a person of action, helping keep Maryland Holsteins on the cutting edge. Beyond working for the betterment of the association, Lee's sincerity shines through the true interest he takes in the individuals that make up the association.

Lee's dedication to young people is particularly evident in his work with the dairy judging teams. His successes are not just measured by his national winning teams, but by the loyalty and respect he receives from the team members to whom he offers his influence and encouragement. He is recognized as a nationally and internationally acclaimed judge.

Lee's wife, Sapienza, was also recognized for her support of Lee and the Holstein Association, for sharing her time helping at the shows, and her genuine interest and friendship.

Junior Breeder Award

Starting at the age of eight with one registered Holstein calf given to him by his grandfather, Ed Derr Sr., Gary Derr has gradually developed his herd. During his successful 4-H career, Gary was able to acquire a small group of cows, which James Stonesifer milked for him.

During the 7½ years after his graduation from high school, Gary worked as a herdsman for Mr. Stonesifer and then later for Ray and Mike Haines. During this time, he was able to add to his expanding herd.

From 1984 to 1989 Gary farmed in a partnership with Brad-

Milk Dealers Seek Solution To Stolen Milk Case

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — It may sould like the plea of a headstrong teen ager, but Pennsylvania Milk Dealers are serious when they say "Get Off My Case" in their annual campaign to recover plastic milk cases that have been "borrowed" by the public.

"Nearly everybody has used a milk case as a seat or a stepladder or a handy container for books, plants, tools and toys," said Earl Fink, executive vice president of the Pennsylvania Association of Milk Dealers. "And it has to stop. Widespread misuse of our milk crates cost milk companies millions of dollars a year — costs that are ultimately borne by the consumer.

"They are expensive pieces of private property, and we are encouraging our members to get tough against offenders," he said.

Fink said that misappropriation of milk cases is punishable in Pennsylvania by fines of up to $300 or a 90-day jail sentence.

The "Get Off My Case" campaign is being conducted in paid advertising messages and with special posters in food stores. Bulletins are also being sent to college campuses, where violations have been prevalent during moving time and students' return from summer vacation.

Dairies also are using side panels of milk cartons to ask for public help in recovering "borrowed" cases.

with a large Oxford breed, which comprised the largest of the breed competition. Amy's Oxford ewe lamb was a champion standout.

Highly impressed

Judge J. Clyde Brubaker, a Hampshire sheep breeder from Robesonia, was highly impressed with the lamb.

"She's got a lot of thickness, a lot of volume to her, and tremendous length and heighth," he said. "They need to be feminine and angular and they need to have a lot of thickness and width back over that rump, and length, and wide at the back — that's a real indication of easy lambing and we don't need a lot of lambing problems."

Brubaker emphasized the market necessity of the sheep having important qualities "such as structural correctness, muscling, feet, legs, and breed character," he said.

"The Oxford ewe lamb had a lot of femininity, a lot of stoutness, a lot of thickness, a lot of rump, and a lot of thickness in the leg," he said.

Selected ram

Brubaker selected the ram he thought had the correctness and breed character. The award went to Bruce Snyder, Kutztown, for his Dorset ram lamb.

"The rams have to be structurally correct, big, strong, and stout," said Brubaker. Brubaker said the industry has a hard time finding that "perfect" ram, but "we try to breed our animals to get that perfect animal."

The champion ram "had a lot of red meat in him," said Brubaker. "He was a thick ram and he carried a lot of balance, and was pretty correct structurally."

For the showmanship and fitting contests Monday, Brubaker found the decision about a champion tough to make.

Fitting, showmanship

"It isn't easy picking fitting and showmanship (champions) anymore," he said. "I can remember not too many years ago when we'd see perhaps two or three outstanding sheep out there that were fitted and cleaned up they way they should be, and the rest of them were kind of mediocre."

Today, however, Brubaker said that many of the sheep exhibited at the fair "really stood out. I though that overall they really carried a lot of breed character for their individual breed.

"We have a lot of kids out here that are doing a real fantastic job. It gets tough to sort them out when they're all this good. But that's what 4-H is and that's what the projects are all about."

BARN CLEANERS

Super Drive Power! Super 500 barn cleaner...for pulling up to 550 feet of chain
Super 750 barn cleaner...for pulling up to 700 feet of chain

SUPER 500 DRIVE: The Super 500 spur gear (not roller chain) drive unit handles up to 250 ft of chain with 2 H P up to 350 ft of chain with 3 H P and up to 550 ft of chain with a 5 H P motor

SUPER 750 DRIVE: The Super 750 drive unit with 7½ H P motor handles up to 700 ft of chain The main gear is cast from ductile iron to provide the extra strength required for cleaning large barns
Both units are packed with power and built to last

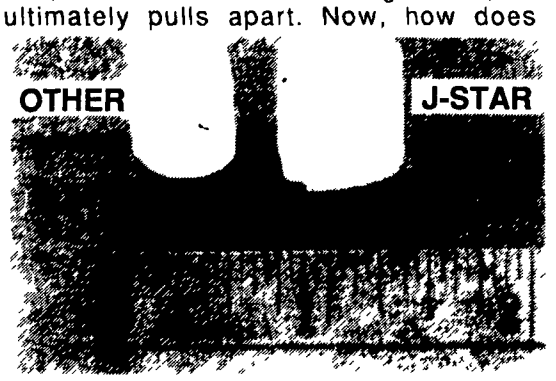
J-STAR BARN CLEANER CHAIN - Face The Facts

FICTION: The Stronger the Chain the Longer it will Last...

FACT 1. The life of barn cleaner chain is not directly affected by its tensile strength. The strength of a new chain considerably exceeds the maximum pull of the drive unit. For example, the pull of a J-Star model 750 drive unit - the heaviest and fastest drive on the market - is only 33% of the tensile strength of J-Star's hook link chain. Enough said!!!

FICTION: All Hook Link Chain is Basically Alike...

FACT 2. The life of barn cleaner chain, for a given installation, is affected by its wear area and hardness. The greater the wear area, and/or the harder the wearing surface, the longer a link will wear before it ultimately pulls apart. Now, how does J-Star chain stack up?



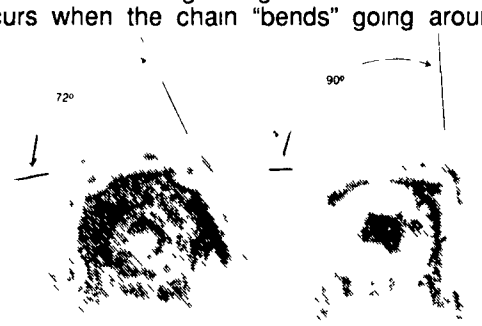
* J-Star chain is hardened by the same process to the same hardness range as all competitive hook link chain — NO DIFFERENCE HERE!

BUT...

* The first point in a chain to fail from wear is usually the end of the eye. J-Star chain, as compared to the other brand for example, has 35% more area in the hook link eye. Note the graphic difference shown below.

FICTION: The Life of a Barn Cleaner Chain has Nothing to do with the Kind of Drive Unit Used With It...

FACT 3. A chain wears at the point where the links contact one another. The rate of wear for a given installation increases as the amount of "grinding" between hook and mating eye increases. This "grinding" occurs when the chain "bends" going around corners, such as corner wheels, reverse curves, hold-down shoes or wheels, and around drive sprockets. Most competitive barn cleaners are about equal in the degree to which they "bend" the chain going through most of these points. HOWEVER - hook link chain does "grind" less when it goes around the J-Star 5-tooth drive sprocket than when it goes around the other brand 4-tooth sprocket.



All-forged Hook-Link® chain... available on Super 300 and Super 500 barn cleaners

Extra thick steel at all wear points

IMPORTANT: Look for the "parting line" on any barn cleaner chain you buy It shows where excess metal has been trimmed off. It is your assurance that the link was totally forged, not just punched out of a flat steel bar with grain flow in one direction only
You want a totally-forged link because forging changes the grain on the steel, causing it to curve in unbroken flow lines around the countours of the link, giving the link greater strength to serve you longer

MORIDGE

GRAIN DRYERS

Saves Crops Saves Fuel.

Moridge grain dryers operate at up to half the per bushel cost of some dryers. Since the 1960's fuel conscience European farmers have preferred the Moridge dryer economy. On American farms and at country elevators Moridge has handled the drying because of its reliability and low investment-low labor costs. Now there's an even bigger reason to dry with Moridge—fuel economy.

DOEBLER'S ALFALFAS

A step ahead on crop protection

by Bill Camerer

"What's Aphanomyces?"

We hear that question a lot since introducing Doebler's Precedent, one of the very few alfalfas resistant to this new disease.

Aphanomyces won its name as the scourge of Midwest pea crops. Recently it spun off a strain that attacks alfalfa.

Water-logged seedings are hit the hardest. If you seeded a Phytolphthora-resistant alfalfa this past spring and still found a lot of root rot, this new fungus could be the culprit.

Hard winters and other diseases can be equally devastating. Here's how Doebler's alfalfas protect your crop:

SEVEN-WAY PROTECTION

	Precedent	Starmaster
Winter hardiness	Very good	Excellent
Bacterial Wilt	Highly Resistant	Resistant
Verticillium Wilt	Highly Resistant	Resistant
Anthracnose	Resistant	Moderately Resistant
Fusarium Wilt	Resistant	Resistant
Phytophthora RR	Highly Resistant	Highly Resistant
Aphanomyces	Resistant	----------

Disease resistance gives you longer stands and 10 to 15% higher yields in later years, extension agents say. We feel our new Precedent and Starmaster do even better. And Eastern alfalfa trials confirm it.

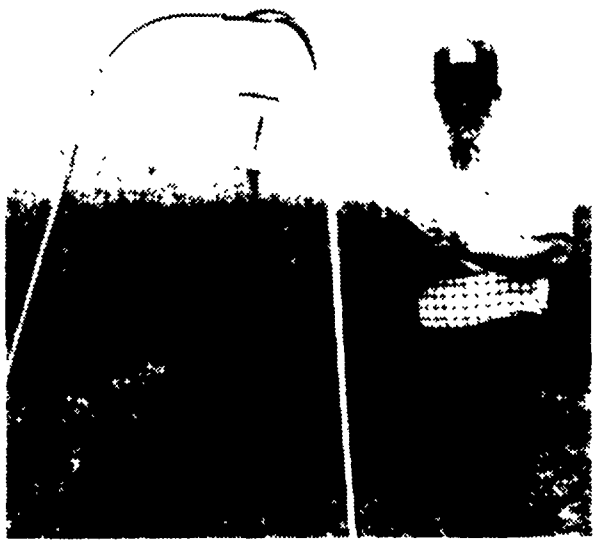
Alfalfa test plots take a lot of hand work. I'm Bill Camerer with small cutterbar mower, above. Matt McCormick is on wooden rake. We harvest our 128 entries every 30 days, weather permitting. Then we weigh hay, at right, and calculate tons per acre.



York Fair Swine

Hanover, nailed down another supreme champion sow banner with their homebred Duroc gilt. The red hogs' winning ways continued through the supreme boar runoffs, with the supreme title clinched by the James Parlett family, Airville.

A Hampshire exhibited by the John Strawbridge family, Stewartstown, broke the Duroc domination when breed champions took to the arena for the supreme parade before judge Keith Bard, Cambria County.

The Russell Combower family of New Freedom swept the Berkshire breeding classes, taking champion and reserve barrow, sow and boar rosettes.

Judging of Chester Whites ended in a similar shutout of the competition by Jim and Gus Parlett, Airville, taking all six barrow, sow, and boar rosettes.

Duroc awards were divided up among a trio of exhibitors. The Parlett string took both champion and reserve boar honors, as well as reserve champion sow and reserve barrow. Rogert Bankert got the nod for champion sow. Dave Holloway, whose show string consisted of one homebred, took the Duroc barrow champion title, as well as reserve supreme.

Both the Hampshire and Yorkshire breed shows were completely dominated by John Strawbridge's winning showstring of homebreds.

Matt Trostle, 4-H member from Red Lion, topped the sow classes for champion in the Spotted Hogs division. All other Spotted champion and reserve placings went to Jim and Gus Parlett.

Dave Holloway's Duroc topped the breed for the barrow title, then took the reserve supreme barrow placing.

Named York Fair supreme boar was the champion Duroc exhibited by Gus Parlett.

Exhibitor of the champion Hampshire boar was John Strawbridge.

Roger Bankert's champion Duroc gilt won her breed classes, then earned the judge's nod for the York Fair's supreme sow title.

Larry Robinson bested the competition to capture the champion Landrace barrow rosette.

Holstein Directory

HUGHSON, Calif. — The 1990-91 Holstein Sire Directory has been made available, according to a statement from Landmark Genetics.

The breeder's reference book has some changes, however, according to the company's news release.

"With alphabetical listings by sire name or code number, you can easily locate the bulls to see daughter photos, calving ease, linear, and pedigrees. Special pages include reccomendation to help you use Landmark Sires to their best advantage, aAa, DMS and calving ease listings, the linear trait leaders, and the proofs at a glance," the company claims.

The directories are available through district sales managers or distributors.

Farm Forum

Lancaster Farming regularly makes the effort to keep good health and safety practices on the minds of its readers. In particular, I commend Mr. Jay Irwin, Lancaster County Agricultural Agent, for his contributions to farm safety through his column, "Now is the Time."

I also thank Lancaster Farming for its support of the Lung Association's efforts to make information on lung hazards available to the farming public. Allow me to remind your readers that we have several items that would be of interest to them:

• Lung Association brochures on "Agricultural Lung Hazards";

• A nine-unit "Agricultural Respiratory Hazards Education Series" developed by the American Lung Association of Iowa and The University of Iowa (The subject of Unit 5, for example, is silo gas.);

• A 15-minute slide/tape presentation, as a companion to the Series;

• Assorted materials, including slides and fact sheets, from the Cooperative Extension Service of Penn State's College of Agriculture.

When it comes to safe work practices, we can never be reminded enough. In our words: It's a matter of life and breath.[R]

Dairy Show Results

A pair of red Holsteins exhibited by Neil Stewart of Marion Center won top honors in that category, and the grand champion also won the ribbon for supreme champion of all dairy cattle at the Indiana County Fair.

"Corlan-Farms Rita-Red-Twin," judged the grand champion and supreme champion, recently produced 22,000 pounds of milk over 305 days, with 4.4 percent butterfat and 3.4 percent protein, according to her owners.

Stewart's second animal, "Ronnybrook Artic Brodie-Red-Eli" was named reserve grand champion female among the Holsteins.

Stewart, who runs a milking herd of 45 cows, has won other grand champion ribbons at the fair, but this year was his first to show a supreme champion.

The Stewart family had a total of 15 cows in competition at the fair this year.

Case IH Dealers Meet

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)—About 150 representatives from Case IH dealerships in Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey, Delaware and West Virginia gathered here Tuesday to see company representatives unveil two new lines of tractors.

The one line, the 1100 series, is so new that officials asked news representatives not to photograph the model that was on display. This line of compact tractors will replace the 200 series and will be on the market in 1991. The 1100 series will be especially useful in the urban market.

The Case International 95 series tractors shown in the photo with dealer representatives replaces the 85 series and are equipped with operating features commonly found in the larger horsepower classes that belong to the Case IH Magnum and Maxxum tractors. These new tractors are available in 21 styles from orchard specials to cab-equipped row-crop models.

Maryland Holstein

ley Garst.

Gary now owns and operates his own herd, known as Derrwyn Farm, with his wife, Brenda, and their two sons, Dustin and Brandon. They currently milk 65 cows on a 100-acre farm near Taylorsville.

Over the years, Gary has enjoyed much success in the show ring. But his success is not surprising considering the fine herd which he has developed.

The herd's BAA from the latest classification is 105.5%. The herd also has an outstanding production average of 19,000 pounds of milk and 725 pounds of fat.

In addition to managing his herd, Gary is very active both in local and state farm organizations. He has been a Carroll County Holstein Club director for nine years, serving as president for two years and as vice president for another two years. At the state level, Gary has been a Holstein Association director for two years and has served on the Breed Improvement Committee for 10 years. Gary is also on the county board of directors for Sire Power and for Farm Bureau.

Gary's accomplishments serve as an outstanding example for young dairymen starting out on their own.

Senior Breeder Award

Roger and Peggy Myers took over the family farm in 1953, near Westminster, and purchased his first registered Holsteins in 1955. His venture into registered Holsteins became a joint venture with his sons in support and encouragement of their interest in registered Holsteins.

Extensive use of Elevation represented a turning point for the herd, with, at one time, more than a third of the milking herd being sired by Elevation.

The best known daughter, Del-Myr Elevation Donna, was best bred and owned at the 1977 Eastern National Show. Another highlight in the show ring for Del-Myr Farm was being named premier breeder and exhibitor at the 1982 Maryland State Fair.

From the beginnings of a 10,000 pound herd average in 1953, the herd has neared the 22,000-pound mark and was the first herd in Carroll County to attain 800 pounds of fat. Five Progressive Breeders Registry Awards are representative of the Del-Myr herd's consistently high production and BAA of 106.

Roger has served as president of the Carroll County Holstein Club, as a director on the state Holstein Board, and as a delegate to the National Holstein Convention. In addition, he has served on both local and state DHI Boards, as well as being active in church and community activities.

Through their interest and support Roger and Peggy have given their children, all have remained close to agriculture. Sons Jason and Jeff, both beneficiaries of past partnerships with Roger, are actively involved in Holstein operations, as well as daughter Joanne. Jerry still owns Holstein cattle while employed as an agriculture extension agent.

Pampered Chef Teaches Cooking Skills

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

BERNVILLE (Lebanon Co.) — More than 25 Farm Women members who like food, fun, and fellowship, gathered at Sylvia Scharff's home in Bernville on September 11. The occasion was a group fundraiser demonstrated by The Pampered Chef.

Lisa Scharff and Glady Gutshall are eager to taste the tomato tart that was baked in an unglazed baking dish.

Sylvia Scharff, left, and Joyce Pawlowski demonstrated the ease of peeling and coring apples with an apple peeler.

Sylvia is the soon-to-be-installed president of Berks Farm Women Society 5, the largest Farm Women group in the county. Raised on a Bernville farm and now living on a house built on the home farm, Sylvia has been a member of the group for 25 years.

Sylvia said, "The first time I attended a Pampered Chef party, I thought, gee, this is fun."

Because Sylvia has a bubbly, outgoing personality, and because she was so enthusiastic about the tools she used, other members often told her that she should become a demonstrator.

Sylvia took that step by inviting her Farm women friends.

Sylvia and Joyce Pawloski, a director of the organization, showed the group how to prepare tasty, attractive dishes by using kitchen tools.

Joyce said, "Often new kitchen utensils are introduced on the market, but busy women don't find out about them. Precious time can be lost by preparing foods the old-fashioned way."

Joyce showed women how easy apple peeling is if an apple peeler/corer/slicer is used that peels, cores and slices apples in one easy step.

The women learned how to prepare attractive garnishes with the kitchen utensils. Rosebuds were made from a tomato peel. Fish and a sail-boat were fashioned from a hard-boiled egg, a carrot was inserted in a cucumber and sliced to make crinkle cut flowers. A cucumber was sliced like a tulip and a cherry tomato was inserted in the middle. A palm tree was made by using a tomato, carrot, and potato.

Many of the tools demonstrated cost only a few dollars but are of high quality and well designed and are not available in stores. The tools are guaranteed for at least one year.

A popular item is a deep dish baker of unglazed ceramic. The baking dish absorbs moisture and yields crisp flaky crusts and light, high volume breads.

The unglazed ceramic baking dish does indeed produce the perfect flaky crust the guests discovered when they tasted the food.

Recipes were distributed for those who like to try new recipes. Joyce said that many of the recipes they use for the demonstration are those they find in Lancaster Farming newspaper.

The Pampered Chef was founded by an Illinois home economist in 1980 so that through the show and tell method, people learn how to use quality, well-designed kitchen tools. The hostesses supply food and guests, but the demonstrator does all the food preparation and even washes the dirty dishes.

The party is so popular that the organization has more than 870 demonstrators in many states.

This was not the first time Farm Women members had a Pampered Chef party for a fundraiser, for they find that the home party plan works well to raise funds for the many community causes they support and it's an opportunity for women to learn about new kitchen tools that makes food preparation easier.

The Farm Women group fundraiser will help buy Christmas presents for residents at Berks Heim, buy supplies for the Ronald McDonald House, and help a needy family.

For more information on The Pampered Chef, call (215) 488-1652.

Sylvia has three children, ages 24, 23, and 21. She likes to sew, make crafts, and go 4-wheeling.

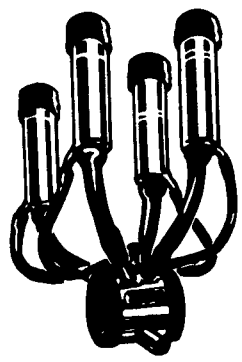
MILKERS AND PULSATORS

BIO-MILKER



The solution to the dairy challenge!

The Bio-Milker works in two phases

Massage Phase —
Air flows in under the teat through the valve opened by the pulsator to lower the vacuum at the teat The reduced vacuum level and gentle massaging pressure of the liner produce a biologically desirable relaxation of the teat The blood and tissue fluid flow back unhindered to the teat sinus.

Milking Phase —
The air inlet valve closes. The vacuum at the teat is raised at the percise moment that it is required for actual milk flow By this means a vacuum level is attained in the milkflow phase which is more balanced and closer to the milkline vacuum. This is the result of moving milk in a solid column with a pulsed air bleed vs. continuous air bleed as in other milkers.

Makes it possible for biology and technology to exist in harmony in your milking operation.

Four Generations Of Hoffers Say Marketing Gets In Your Blood

MARY LAEGER-HAGEMEISTER
Extension Home Economist

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Market going has been in the Hoffner family for four generations. It's a tradition passed down from mother to daughter, again and again. In the past 40 years, four business-minded women have operated the Hoffner Poultry and Egg stall at the Broadstreet Market in Harrisburg.

Mrs. Landis Hoffner began operating the stall, assisted by her two daughters, Dolly and Fay, and son Aaron. Then it was passed on to daughter Dolly Pickel. She in turn has kept it in the family with the assistance of her daughter JoAnn and son Richard. Dolly Pickel is still behind the counters helping the customers; however, her daughter JoAnn Stine is now the official "boss" of the business since April 1990. But the tradition does not stop there. JoAnn's 12-year-old daughter, Dolly Jo, helps throughout the entire summer, on Saturdays and during school breaks.

It is such a tradition that Dolly said, "JoAnn was almost born here. When she was pregnant with Dolly Jo, I told her she couldn't have the baby on market days and she didn't!"

However, both recall that they brought their babies into the market when the babies were just a couple days old.

When asked why they have kept the business in the family for four generations, the women's mile and confess, "Market gets in your blood!"

Broad Street Market's History

The Harrisburg Broad Street Market, the oldest market of its type in Pennsylvania, has been in operation since 1860. People can buy almost anything they need at the unique market, which is open Thursday, Friday and Saturday for 10 hours each day. That's 10 hours of standing on your feet, greeting customers, and trying to keep them happy and coming back.

JoAnn waits on a customer.

The city-owned facility was renovated about 12 years ago. Redevelopment brought big changes. Prior to the renovation, the majority of the small holders were farmers, now only five are actually farmers. One of the most recent changes was establishing a fast-food court in the middle of one of the buildings.

"That never used to be here; it has taken away stalls for people to use as sales," Dolly said.

With the change in stall holders came a different type of stand holder. Prior to this time, the majority of stall owners were farmers willing to help one another. "People knew each other and seemed more like family," Dolly said. "Now, the exhibitors don't have as much in common and just aren't as friendly."

Accentuate the Positive

"The best part of market is the people. Some are extremely nice and some you just have to get along with," Dolly and JoAnn said. JoAnn commented that even when they aren't at market, they often encounter someone they know from market. As a child she remembers that she and her brother "had to behave because we never knew if we would run into someone we knew!"

"Customers are like a family," said Dolly. "They share stories of their children and show pictures. We've been able to see the children grow up. Sometimes, we don't know their names, but we know faces and they trust us."

The women's main concern is pleasing the customer. Local people are the biggest customers as they may get everything they need in one location. Since supermarkets are not easily accessible to them, the market serves a community need. The biggest asset is that consumers can see what they're getting and its freshness. They do not have to buy prepackaged food that they cannot inspect prior to purchase.

Hoffner customers can purchase chickens either whole, parts, or deboned at no extra charge. Another unique service is to offer the bones from chicken breasts to people who want to use them to make chicken broth.

Another aspect that is difficult to find in the supermarket is service with a smile. Dolly and JoAnn greet every customer with a smile and cheery hello. Some are customers who have lost count of the number of years that they've been coming to the market. Others are new customers with individual tastes that Dolly and JoAnn strive to fulfill.

Last week, one faithful customer came to get his weekly purchase and shared his sorrow in loosing his 45-year-old daughter to death that very morning. Neither Dolly nor NoAnn knew the man's name, but there were tears in their eyes as they listened and grieved for him. That personal touch contributes a great deal to the success of their business. It also helps an observer understand what they mean when they say market gets in their blood.

One of the other advantages of market-going is "all the good food!" remarked JoAnn. Directly across from their stall is a bakery emitting smells of fresh baked goods and tempting even the most disciplined person.

Busy Schedules

Until the Avaian flu epidemic, the women got up at 2 a.m. every Thursday morning and started butchering 250 to 300 chickens. "We had to be done by 5 a.m. so that JoAnn could help with the milking, and then we'd go to market. "We earned our money the hard way," remarked Dolly.

That has changed now. They buy the chickens from Pennfield on Wednesday and fill the coolers. "It's a lot easier," Dolly said.

The women sell an average of 1,599 ½ lbs. of chicken and 334 dozen eggs per week. At Thanksgiving more than 300 turkeys are sold the Saturday prior to Thanksgiving Day. That is the biggest sale day of the year.

When asked about what they do in their spare time, JoAnn remarked that Sunday is a day for church and just resting — unless of course there's something else to do which there usually is. Monday is bank day and Tuesday is a day to run errands so that they can be ready for market again by Thursday.

Both women do get some vacation. "It works out best by taking turns," said Dolly.

For fun, JoAnn said that she goes out to eat. Her favorite foods are seafood or Italian.

Dolly loves working in her yard and gardening. JoAnn said that the whole family enjoys the produce of Dolly's labors in the garden.

Other key people to making the business successful are JoAnn and Dolly's spouses. Dolly remarked that when they first took over the business, her husband, Marlin, was involved, but he prefers taking care of the dairy farm. He supports her efforts in the business but stays on the farm where he feels most comfortable.

Harrisburg Broad Street Market is an educational experience. When you go, be sure to stop by and see Dolly and JoAnn at Hoffner's Poultry and Egg stall. Then you will understand why customers continue their patronage.

Good Cooking Techniques That Give Good Cooking Results

Cooking appliances form the heart of the kitchen. Since earliest times, the kitchen revolved around cooking... whether it was done in pots over an open fire, a cast-iron wood or coal-burning stove, or the big porcelain-enameled electric and gas ranges that were popular in the 1930's.

Today, preparing meals is still the kitchen's primary purpose. Modern cooking appliances make this job easier and faster. But, even efficient, modern ovens require the use of good cooking techniques for best results.

You can avoid most common baking problems by following a few simple procedures:

(1) Place racks properly- In general, position racks so that food is in the center of the oven. There are some exceptions. For example, place angel and bundt cakes and yeast breads on a rack at the lowest level. To bake on two racks, position one near the top level and the other near the bottom level, staggering pans on each rack for good air circulation.

(2) Preheat the oven- For most baking (cookies, cakes, pies, breads, etc.) preheat an electric oven until the oven light cycles off. Preheat gas ovens for about ten minutes.

(3) Arrange pans correctly- Place pans to allow good air circulation for most even browning. Avoid placing a top-rack baking pan directly over one on the lower rack. Allow 1½ to 2 inches of space around each pan and between the pans and oven walls.

(4) Use proper utensils:

For cakes- use a shiny aluminum pan to produce a light, golden crust. Dark pans (including painted metal or those darkened from use) absorb heat rapidly, resulting in darker browning. When using oven-proof glass pans or dark pans, reduce the oven temperature 25°F and bake for the time called for in the recipe.

For cookies- use a flat (without sides) shiny aluminum sheet. Cookies baked in dark pans or those with sides may brown unevenly.

For pies- use glass or dark metal pans for best results. Do not bake in shiny metal pans because they reflect heat causing an underdone, pale bottom crust. Place frozen pies in foil baking pans on an aluminum cookie sheet so the bottom crust will brown.

For bread- use oven-proof glass, dull aluminum or dark metal pans for best browning. If using a glass loaf pan, reduce the oven temperature by 25°F.

Practicing these simple techniques can help you get the best baking results from your oven... whether it's old or new.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

Times change, people change and conditions change. With this line of thought, I looked at my September diary for 1960. This was the year that our fifth child was born -- the one who now does the farming.

My schedule nowadays is very different from 30 years ago. Then our oldest child was 11 years old and our youngest was 2 months old. What a busy household that was as we tried to accommodate everyone's needs.

Before school started we took a day trip Pine Grove Furnace State Park where the boys and girls enjoyed swimming and a picnic lunch. One Sunday the two oldest took a long boat ride on the Conestoga River.

My parents took a trip that month to Salt Lake City and our two boys were supposed to tend their chickens and clean the eggs. Well, they left a gate open and the chickens scattered everywhere. And to add to the troubles, six of my father's sheep died while he was away and we had to bury them.

Our children's needs in regard to school were numerous. One needed a special kind of gym clothes and another needed a book from the public library. A daughter took violin lessons and as a prize for good marks she got her lessons at half-price.

One boy lost his bicycle when his father drove the truck over it. He had put it on the ground nearby even though he knew he should not have done that. And, this same son had a tractor run away from him and only stop when it hit trees in a woodland. Luckily, he wasn't hurt.

The boys raised pigs to have some money of their own. When they sold six pigs, they were very anxious to be paid even though most of the money was put into savings accounts for them. The girls helped me freeze 20 quarts of corn in one day.

I intended to read what had happened the month of September, but I found all of this information in the first ten days.

Berks Society 1

The Berks Society of Farm Women Group 1 held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Joan Kaas, Douglassville. Mrs. Arlene Hafer spoke on safety.

Final plans were made to have the baked goods sale at the Reading Fair. Eighteen members answered roll call to the question "What is your favorite fruit?"

Members also made plans to attend the County Convention on October 6 at the Kutztown Grange.

The next meeting will be "Ladies Night Out" at the New Spring Valley Inn, Pennside.

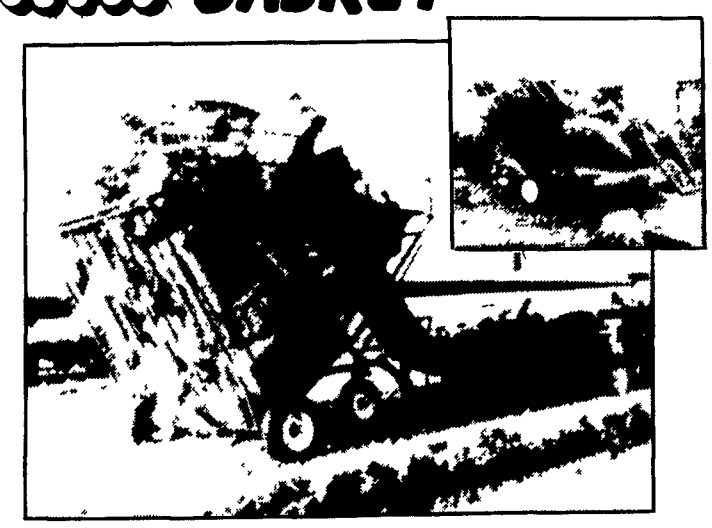
ONE OF A KIND IN ITS FIELD

HAYBASKET

THE PRACTICAL WAY TO HANDLE SQUARE BALES FROM THE FIELD TO THE BARN.



ADVANTAGES OF "HAYBASKET"
- Reduces baling time by up to one-half since you can unload at the barn with the flip of a lever.
- Reduce the number of broken bales caused by a bale thrower.
- Eliminate maintenance cost of a kick/thrower.
- If you presently are not using a kicker or need a new baler, eliminate the entire cost of a kicker
- Eliminate the aggravation and back breaking labor of unloading tangled, wedged bales from a slippery floor three feet off the ground
- Replace three hay wagons with two haybaskets since unloading time is so fast.
- Eliminate the "Swaying" problem with 4 wheel wagons on the road. Increase transport speed
- The Haybasket acts like a "Two-Wheel" Trailer. Since the front wheel casters, it is easy to maneuver.
- The Haybasket is priced close enough to a new kicker wagon that it is very affordable.

QUESTIONS MOST FREQUENTLY ASKED.

- HOW MANY BALES DOES IT HOLD?

The Haybasket will hold from 95-100 full size bales.

- WHAT ABOUT CORNERS?

Owners report that they can follow average raked corners with no problem. One owner said he can make a 90 degree turn.

- WHAT ABOUT HILLS?

With a 10' Wheelbase and a very low center of gravity the haybasket is much more stable on hillsides than a wagon with a 72" treadwidth and high center of gravity

Make-It-With Wool Contest

DAMASCUS, Md.— It's not too early to begin your entry for the 1990 Maryland Make It Yourself With Wool Contest, which will be held on Saturday, October 27, at the Kenilworth Park Mall near Towson, Md.

The annual contest is open to anyone of any age who can sew, knit, crochet, or weave an outfit of wool; the only requirement is that the yarn or fabric used be at least 60% wool fiber. There are four age categories: preteen (ages 13 & under), junior (ages 14-17), senior (ages 18-24), and adult.

Top awards include an Elnita 200 sewing machine donated by Elna, Inc. for the preteen champion; trips to the National Make-It-Yourself-With-Wool Contest in Long Beach, Ca., for the junior and senior champions; and a $100 gift certificate donated by G Street Fabrics of Rockville for the adult winner. The adult winner will also receive a gift subscription to Sew News, and a free membership to the Bishop Sewing Circle. The Baltimore County Sheep & Wool Producers will provide roses for the winners. The reserve champion in all four age groups will each receive a gift certificate to Clearbrook Woolen Shop, Va.

Over $4,500 in prizes will be offered, including sewing equipment, books and videos, gift certificates, lengths of Pendleton Wool Fabric, and more. Each participant will receive a cash reward provided by the Maryland Agricultural Fair Board. Overall sponsor of the contest is the Maryland Sheep Breeders Association, who provides the trips to the National Contest and other support. To date, 53 National and Maryland sewing-related or sheep-related businesses and organizations have pledged awards for the Free State Contest.

The national finals will be held January 17-20, 1991 in Long Beach, Ca. Top prizes include college scholarships, fashion trips to New York City, serger sewing machines, luggage, and savings bonds.

For the first time, a participant may make any outfit of his/her choosing as a catchall "other" entry category has been added to the traditional dresses, suits, and coats classes. The Maryland Committee has also added two other categories for adults only: one is for hand-crafted garments (woven, knitted, crocheted) while the other is for an outfit that the adult has made for someone else (child, spouse, etc.). Hand-crafted garments can also be teamed up with sewn garments to make a total outfit. Preteens can choose from a list of seven classes or make a multi-piece entry.

Also for the first time, an entry fee is charged by the National organization. Preteens will pay $2 while all others will pay $5. For this fee, you may enter as many classes as you like.

Entries are due by September 27 to contest chairperson, Jo Anne Leatherman, 11306 Mt. View Road, Damascus, Md. 20874 (telephone 301-253-5469). Entry blanks can be obtained from her, local offices of the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, or from regional contact Virginia Harrison (Baltimore area, telephone 301-795-8521) or the Promotional Office of G Street Fabrics (Washington area 301-231-8998). Local fabric stores may also have entry blanks.

Caught in the balancing act between calcium needs and fat guidelines? Rely on cheese — it's a powerhouse of calcium. Three ounces of part-skim Mozzarella cheese will contribute 550 milligrams of calcium (69 percent of the U.S. Recommended Dietary Allowance (RDA) for adult women) for 13.5 grams of fat (20 percent of your fat allowance) Pretty good odds when you consider the U.S. RDA of 800 milligrams of calcium for a woman 25 years of age and older and 67 grams of fat during the day.

Featured Recipe

Berks Farm Women Society 5 recently held a fund raiser. Sylvia Scharff, who is vice president of the group, held a demonstration party called The Pampered Chef. While the members watched, Sylvia prepared several special recipes that demonstrated how the proper kitchen utensils can help prepare foods in a hurry. To learn more about The Pampered Chef party, look for the feature in this section.

The featured recipe is one that appeared in Lancaster Farming last year. Joyce Pawloski, director of the organization, said that many of the recipes demonstrated come from Lancaster Farming newspaper.

TOMATO TART

1 8-ounce can crescent dinner rolls
½ cup chopped onions
1 green pepper
¼ pound fresh mushrooms
2 large ripe tomatoes
¾ cup grated American cheese
2 cloves garlic
1 tablespoon finely cut parsley
3 eggs
⅛ teaspoon dry mustard
½ cup dairy sour cream
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Separate dough into 8 triangles and place points toward the center in a deep dish pie plate. Turn excess dough over to form roll. Bake at 375 degrees for about 5 minutes or until crust is lightly browned. Remove from oven. Crust will be puffy so take a fork and push edges together on outside, roll so that there is a solid edge.

Slice onion thinly. Chop green peppers. Slice mushrooms. Sprinkle onions, peppers, and mushrooms over crust.

Slice tomatoes and place each piece over the top of the other vegetables.

Grate cheese and sprinkle over tomatoes. Sprinkle parsley over cheese.

In bowl, mix eggs, sour cream, salt, pepper and garlic. Mix well. Pour mixture over the top of vegetables. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Slice with pizza cutter and serve.

She would like information on which company sold it or a recipe that tastes similar. She writes: "It would make my father an incredible, happy man."

QUESTION — From time to time, readers request information on items that do not pertain to cooking. One of these questions comes from Naomi Becker of 4691 Maple Drive, Walnutport, PA 18088. She asks if a reader would share some old fashioned, not double, Hollyhoke seeds with her. She'd like a mixture of pink, red, and yellow.

CORRECTION — Amelia Weinhofer, Northampton, pointed out that the recipe for Russian Torte that was printed in the September 1 issue did not specify the amount of flour. Verna Guzel, Canonsburg, apologized for missing the ingredient and said that the torte is delicious — one that they make every Christmas. Here is the corrected recipe.

Russian Torte

4 cups ground nuts
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon
4 cups flour, sifted
3 sticks butter
4 egg yolks
¼ cup milk
¼ cup warm water
1 package dry yeast
2 cans apricot filling
2 egg whites for topping
2 tablespoons sugar for topping

Combine nuts, sugar, cinnamon, mix well. Measure ½ cup and set aside for topping.

Combine yeast with water and set aside. Sift flour into bowl; add butter and blend. Add slightly beaten egg yolks, milk, and yeast mixture. Blend and stir batter until it pulls away from sides of bowl. Place on a floured board and knead for a few minutes. Divide and cut dough into 3 sections. Roll the first section of dough to measure 15x10-inches, which should be the same size as your pan. Lightly grease the pan and place the first layer of dough in it. Work edges up side of pan to form a wall for lining. Spread nut mixture evenly over the dough. Roll the second part of dough the same measurement and place over nuts. Spread apricot filling over this dough. Roll remaining dough and spread over apricots. Bake in 350 degree oven for 45 minutes, 10 minutes before baking time is over, beat egg whites and sugar until stiff. Check the torte, if it is done, remove from oven and spread egg whites over hot torte evenly. Sprinkle the remaining ½ cup nuts over egg whites and return to oven for 10 more minutes. When done to a toasty color, remove from oven and while hot, cut into diamond-shaped pieces.

Offer family and friends "crostini" – Italian for little crusts. Typically a sign of hospitality that precedes an Italian meal, these little rounds of bread can hold a variety of toppings. A favorite of the American Dairy Association? Fresh Mozzarella cheese and chopped capers or Italian olives.

Just a little sour cream will turn ordinary foods into company-special treats. Here are three sure-to-please ideas. Top baby new potatoes with sour cream and a bit of caviar. Dollop sour cream onto cucumber slices, followed by a spoonful of hard-cooked egg. Swirl sour cream into savory cream of tomato or split pea soup.

Chances are, your favorite pre-game dips rely on cream cheese as their delicious base. To speed their making, soften the cream in the microwave. Remove the cheese from its box and wrapper, and place it in a microwave safe bowl. Microwave on Medium (50%) for 30 seconds for each 8-ounce package.

Australian Shepherds Make Good Dogs For Kids

DENVER (Lancaster Co.) — Like all dog lovers, Yvette Parkinson of Denver thinks her dogs are the best. She raises Australian Shepherds and she can't stop bragging about them.

She said, "Australian Shepherds are the number one family dog. They are so playful and all they want is to be loved."

She claims that the dogs grin and their little back ends wiggle like mad when they are happy.

Yvette has been raising Australian Shepherds for three years. She sells them to people who show them, use them for herding livestock, and those who just want a pet.

Most of her dogs have blue eyes, but some have amber and some have mixed colored eyes.

The breed has a variety of coat colors. The blue merle (bluish grey) with blue eyes is usually the preferred for those who like to show dogs. But the dogs may be red merle or solid red or solid black or a mixture of black, white and copper. The coat color often becomes darker as the dogs become older, but the color stops changing when the dogs are one year old.

Yvette is always careful not to breed a merle-colored dog to another merle colored dog because a gene could cause deafness, blindness, and sterility.

The litters usually are from four to nine dogs. Yvette has a litter of seven and a litter of nine now.

The Australian Shepherd breed is registered with the National Stock Dog Registry, because they are working dogs. Many farmers like Australian Shepherds to herd their sheep, cattle or horses.

Those who don't need the dogs for herding find them the ideal house pet. Yvette has a friend who owns a day care center and an Australian Shepherd. The dog follows the children everywhere.

"It feels so nice to have a puppy to greet you when you come home," Yvette said.

Male Wins Maryland 4-H Fashion Revue

COLLEGE PARK, Md.— For the first time in the more than 60-year history of statewide 4-H fashion competition, a young man won the grand champion award in the 4-H Fashion Revue held August 30 at the Maryland State Fair.

Michael Herbert, 17, of Faulkner (Charles County) said that he was completely shocked when Judge Mary Lou Cox walked up on stage and handed him the grand champion bouquet of roses.

"She almost had to pull me out of the line because I really didn't believe it," he said.

Herbert won the grand champion prize after placing first in the separates category for his three-piece-suit entry. Herbert said he used three separate patterns to make the suit because "I couldn't find the suit I wanted in one pattern."

The result — a dapper looking waist-length jacket, pleated pants, classsic white polyester shirt and coordinating challis print tie.

Herbert had broken another barrier last year, his first year competing in the show, by winning a champion award in the sportswear category, another first for male competitors.

The other winners, all female, were equally impressive. In the tailored category, Janine Smick, 18, of Jarrettsville (Harford County) captured first prize for her handsome loose-fitting jacket and straight-legged pants combo.

Smick also won a special Maryland Make It With Wool award for the same outfit, and was presented with several yards of Pendleton wool. This is the first year that the award, sponsored by the Maryland Sheep Breeders Association, has been presented at the Fashion Revue.

Brandy-Lynn Reese, 15, of Westminster (Carroll County) placed first in the creative choice category for her eye-catching silk riding outfit appliqued with the Shield of Lord Baltimore (Crossland family). The costume represented the Maryland State flag and Maryland's Preakness, the second jewel in the Triple Crown of U.S. horse racing. The winners circle flower wreath was made of handcrafted Black-eyed Susans. Reese originally wore this outfit in the parade of states at the National Pageant for Modern Miss.

For ready-to-wear, a category of clothing which is store-bought and judged on good consumer qualities, the prize went to Jennifer Stephens, 16, of Myersville (Frederick County). A savvy consumer, she purchased a sophisticated two-piece black chiffon dress for only $46.

Brandi Nichole Schwinn, 15, of Brooklyn (Anne Arundel County), a member of the 4-H Horse and Pony project, looked quite comfortable in her cowboy attire, which earned top honors in the sportswear category. Brandi made a snap-front black print western shirt with off-white inset yoke and cuffs, and coordinated western style pants.

Six female winners don't seem to mind sharing the stage with grand champion Michael Herbert at the 4-H Fashion Revue at the Maryland State Fair. The winners are, from left: Brandy-Lynn Reese, 15, of Westminster; Valerie Murray, 15, of Gaithersburg; Jennifer Stephens, 16, of Myersville; Michael Herbert, 17, of Faulkner; Janine Smick, 18, of Jarrettsville; Jennifer Brewer, 18, of Ellicott City; and Brandi Nichole Schwinn, 15, of Brooklyn. Photo credit: Norman Pruitt, Maryland Cooperative Extension Service.

In the regular wear category, Valerie Murray, 15, of Gaithersburg (Montgomery County), captured the championship title with her graceful lace-trimmed dress made from a Gunne Sax pattern for Simplicity. Murray will be representing Maryland in the Fashion Revue project at the National 4-H Congress in Chicago.

In the formal wear category, Jennifer Brewer, 18, from Ellicott City (Howard County) looked stunning in a beautiful floor length prom gown with a black velvet bodice and layered green silk ruffled skirt.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Lingering on is a seasonal residue of sorts.

A blue 4-H show ribbon lies on the kitchen counter next to a mail-in voter's registration card, both remnants of exposure to several days at the York Fair. They belong to the youngest who has not yet found time to deal with either.

Our scuffed and scratched picnic cooler airs out on the breezes of the front porch, awaiting a thorough scrubbing before its return to the attic.

And a mountain of laundry being attacked includes layers of grubby show clothes, damp tee shirts and my white sneakers which connected with a fresh cow 'pie" as we loaded the cattle onto the trailer to return home.

One of the first pressing jobs was to find the kitchen table under the stack of mail which had accumulated and received only minimal attention (like ripping open the milk check!) over the previous several-day stretch. Partway through the stack, a most unseasonable piece of material turned up.

It was a sales promotional piece, urging me to think about Christmas shopping. My reaction was instantaneous and filled with gut-level emotion.

"NOOOOOOOOO!"

That's an all-purpose response borrowed from little neighbor Andy, just-turned-three but with occasional lapses into the vehement terrible-two era. (Known to mothers as the "just scream NO!'" stage, which at the time threatens to last forever.

Christmas shopping? Thanks, but no thanks. At the risk of sounding Scrooge-like, 'tis not the season to be jolly.

'Tis Autumn. It officially begins tomorrow.

Autumn is my favorite season of the year. And I want to savor every moment of its beauty and its blessings and all its glorious brilliance.

'Tis the season of crisp, brisk mornings, of a refreshing nippiness in the air, and a mist hovering over the pond at daybreak. Fuzzy flannel sheets go on the beds and an extra blanket adds enough warmth to keep the windows open a bit to hear the crickets.

'Tis the season when piles of bright orange pumpkins appear overnight at neighborhood produce markets and wide-eyed little kids pick jack-o-lantern material weighing more than they do. Crunchy red apples and fragrant pears replace the peaches in the fruit basket on the counter, joined by a handful of grape clusters from the single vine which sprawls over the split-rail fence at the dairy barn.

'Tis the season when we will wake sometime during the night to the haunting sound of flocks of Canada geese honking overhead as they wing their way southward in V-formation. With each passing group, we'll wonder if the lone hatchling from our first-ever successful nesting pair is among the majestic flyers.

'Tis the season when the meadow will light up with the glow of glorious hues of fall. The bright red-orange of the swamp maples, the yellows of the hickories, the maroons of the dogwood and soft browns of the oaks will blend into a crazy-quilt effect blanketing the woodlot and fencerows with color.

'Tis the season when fresh-from-the-garden tomatoes have an extra measure of rich sweetness, imparted by their impending, inevitable demise with the first heavy frost. The pastels of the late zinnias seem more bright and clear in the cooler weather, and chrysanthemums react to the shorter days by covering themselves with blooms.

'Tis the season when an evening walk under a full, white moon ends in the kitchen with glasses of chilled, fresh cider and a big bowl of warm, buttered popcorn.

'Tis the season when we hurry to plant fall grains and harvest corn, beans and the last of the hay crop, and to offer thanks for an abundance of crops.

Christmas shopping? Bah, humbug, and NOOOOOOOO! (To borrow the phrase from Andy.) That pleasure shall come later, in its own very special season.

This shopper intends to enjoy autumn first.

Just as soon as I sweep the rest of the show-season fallout off the kitchen floor.

Taking Time to Protect Your Health

"What you don't know won't hurt you."

I hear people saying that all the time. Unfortunately, what you don't know may indeed hurt you and your family!

Consider radon.

Many people don't want to bother having their homes and cellars tested for this invisible, odorless gas because they don't want to deal with the outcome. Afterall, that may mean revamping a basement air duct or resealing walls.

As you read, please weigh that bother against the value of the life of your spouse or your child.

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Region III office in Philadelphia has tabulated the 68,419 radon readings taken in Pennsylvania between January 1985 and August 1989. The results clearly indicate the need for ALL homes to be tested — not just those in highly publicized radon "prone" regions.

Radon, a natural substance, is produced as uranium and radium decay. Radon breaks down and releases a radioactive gas. Exposure to elevated levels of this gas is believed to be the leading cause of lung cancer in non-smokers. The EPA estimates that 20,000 people may develop lung cancer each year due to radon exposure.

Currently, the United States is on a "Quit Smoking" campaign. The risk of being exposed to 4 pCi/liter levels of radon gas is roughly equivalent to the risk associated with smoking half a pack of cigarettes each day. Shouldn't we also be on a "Test for Radon" campaign?

With radon, a person's risk is magnified with length of exposure, radon levels higher than 4/pCI/liter, smoking, heredity of cancer in the family, and certain lifestyles.

Of the homes tested in Centre, Cumberland, Fulton, and Lebanon Counties, 70-80% were above the 4 pCi/liter EPA guideline.

In Berks, Dauphin, Franklin, Juniata, Lancaster, Lehigh, Northampton, Perry, and York Counties, 60-70% were above the EPA standard.

In Adams, Carbon, Columbia, Mifflin, Montour, Schuylkill, Snyder, Union, and Venango counties, 50-60% reported levels higher than those recommended.

Thirty-seven of Pennsylvania's 67 counties have found unacceptable levels in 50% of the homes tested. The other Pennsylvania counties reported between 10% and 50% of the homes had levels above the 4 pCi/liter measure.

The good news is it's possible to improve the safety of your home — to lower the radon levels and consequently lower the associated health risks.

Levels are usually reduced by sealing cracks in a home's foundation, venting gas from under the foundation or from the basement area. But even these steps aren't needed in every home.

First, you should take a screening test to determine if levels of the gas may be unsafe. These are usually done with a charcoal canister that costs $12 to $25. If the level is high, a second, more lengthy test is done to confirm the results. Levels tend to be at their highest in winter when homes are tightly sealed. These present a "worst-case" reading.

Many homes are not affected by this indoor air pollutant. Because your neighbor passed the test does not guarantee that you also don't have a problem. Most realtors are are requiring a test before homes can be sold. Twenty-five dollars is an inexpensive fee for peace of mind.

Please consider taking a radon gas test in your home this fall. Give your husband or family the test as a holiday gift. In Pennsylvania, county extension offices have a list of certified testing companies. Please contact your local office if you need help getting started.

Good health and peace of mind are worth the time and money it takes. Test your home today.

Fred, Linda, their Dalmatian dog, and a team of draft horses are a frequent sight at special events in Bedford County.

Tractor Breakdowns Prod

Couple To Earn Living With Draft Horses

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

CLEARVILLE (Bedford Co.)— Fred and Linda Sell began their love affair with draft horses about five years ago.

"We were farming and the tractor kept breaking down," Fred remembers. "So, I thought about the way it was done when I was a kid growing up on the farm. I bought myself a team of draft horses annd started plowing."

Linda quickly adds that horses will keep on plowing when the tractor is broken down. And, they are also very lovable. The Sells have both Belgium and standard drafts.

Linda's first business venture with the horses began with the Bedford Springs Hotel about 1986. She took her team of draft horses to the Springs and offered surrey rides in a surrey provided by the hotel.

Since then, the hotel has gone bankrupt. "But, the rides were so successful, I decided to keep on trying."

Insurance was the biggest stumbling block the Sells had to encounter. "Actually, we had to operate without any for awhile," Linda remembers. "It's a 'catch 22' situation. You can't get insurance without a good record and you are not supposed to operate without insurance."

After a two-year search, they found a company who would take them, based on a "no accident" history.

Christmas 1986, Fred and Linda were asked to take their horses to the Johnstown Christmas parade. "They even offered to pay our transportation," says Fred.

That was only the beginning. Since then, Fred and Linda and their two mainstay horses, Jake and Betty, have appeared in parades in Johnstown, Bedford, Altoona, and Everett.

The Sells now have 11 draft horses. Jake is their prize stud and they plan to keep breeding more in the future.

Marketing takes up a great deal of their time and the couple are constantly on the lookout for new ways to utilize their horses.

Old Bedford Village has a dinner theatre several times each summer. About a quarter of a mile separates the theatre from the dinner site. Some consider it a nice walk. Others think it is impossible.

Transportation is provided by Fred and Linda and their draft horses.

"Our biggest business this summer was weddings," Linda says. Couples getting married have found a ride in a horse drawn surrey adds to the romance of the wedding scene.

To be extra accommodating, Fred is presently constucting a new wagon which will be primarily for weddings. "The bride and groom will face the rear while the bridal party surrounds them," he explains.

The new wagon will also carry wheelchairs. "So far, we've not had trouble getting anyone aboard," Fred says. "We've helped a 95-year-old man with

At Way-Har Farms, Success Comes On An Ice Cream Cone

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

BERNVILLE (Berks Co.) — For 20 years Way-Har Farms has been jugging milk and dipping ice cream.

"Success didn't come on a silver platter," said Shirley Lesher who with her husband, Wayne, and son and daughter-in-law, William and Lolly, own the dairy and store.

At first glance, the sprawling, ranch-type building appears to be a house.

"It was designed to be converted into a home in case the business didn't succeed," Shirley explained.

A neatly printed sign on one of the doors reads, "Use udder door."

Open the door, and the aroma of grilled sausage and onions entices customers to try the store's lunch special. Originally a combination grocery and dairy store, the Leshers found that customers love to sit and enjoy sandwiches, lunch and soda fountain specials, and, of course, ice cream in 34 flavors. If preferred, customers may use the make-your-own sandwich bar.

In 1965, Wayne and his brother, Harold, formed a dairy farm partnership on 175 acres. In 1970, they used three acres of the ground to built a jugging operation and store to sell milk and ice cream. They named it Way-Har Farms, derived from their names, Wayne and Harold.

Sales picked up quickly, "Wayne recalled. "We are near main roads and at the time, we had no competition from mini-markets."

In 1978, the brothers built an addition, which gave them 2,400 square feet of sales space plus storage, office, and supply rooms.

In 1984, Wayne purchased his brother's partnership.

"We had some lean years — really lean — while we restructured," Shirley said.

Part of their restructuring was master-minded by the Lesher's only child, William, who majored in ag science at Penn State and graduated in 1987.

"My goal was to wholesale milk and have a milk route by the time I graduated," William said. While in college he set up accounts. According to the Leshers, that was one of the best things they did to turn the operation into a profitable business. Now about 60 percent of the farm's milk is wholesaled in six-gallon crates to restaurants and to 40 colleges. The store processes an average of 1,200 to 1,300 gallons of milk daily.

In recent years, four convenience stores have opened nearby. Although the Leshers noticed a drop in sales with each competitor's opening, they find novel ways to attract new customers and lure back old ones.

One way was to switch from packaging milk in plastic bags to using biodegradable milk cartons.

"We try to give our customers what they like," Lolly said. "We recognized that since we are a bedroom community of New York, our customers did not want anything to do with plastic bags, which had been popular with the rural community when the store first opened."

Always on the lookout for novel ways to entice customers, the store celebrated National Ice Cream Month in July by offering an Ice Cream Lovers Club special. Customers who joined the club by purchasing 10 scoops of ice cream with four toppings for $5.95 had their pictures taken by store personnel. The pictures were posted on the bulletin board. After the pictures were displayed for a month, the participants could pick up the individual pictures.

The store is known for its hefty ice cream portions served on a plate, in a sugar cone or in their own freshly-baked dream (waffle) cones.

Shirley said, "Whenever customers smell the cones baking, sales escalate so we try to make them during high traffic times."

Another sales tactic they learned is to have something cooking to entice customers to try the lunch specials.

Crafts made by local persons are displayed in a part of the store designated as the Craft Corner.

"The crafts have been a big boom to business," Lolly said. "Many customers pick up a gift on their way home from work."

Formula for success

"We each have our own specialties and that helps us work well together," William said. "We don't expect each one to be an expert in every area."

"The secret is finding what each one's specialty is and concentrating on that," Lolly said.

In the Leshers' operation, Shirley knows the business end and what people like. She keeps the books.

"She's really tough," Lolly said, "especially if we lose a receipt. She believes if you do something, you should do it well."

Lolly's specialty is in advertising and marketing. Lolly grew up on a Huntingdon County dairy farm and was an alternate dairy princess for her county. Now she is communications specialist for Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program in Harrisburg.

The Lesher families, left to right, William, Lolly, Shirley, and Wayne are preparing for Way-Har Farms 20th anniversary celebration, October 20-21. A tent will be set up on the store grounds to include a petting zoo and craftspersons at work. Of course, there will be plenty of ice cream and dairy store specials for customers.

The dairy's new milk carton took six months to get approval.

Wayne, a self-described "people person," enjoys the milk delivery route that he runs from 5 p.m. to midnight. He also does custom grain drying, and most of the field work on their 500 acres where they raise all the crops needed to feed their herd.

"I take more orders than I give," Wayne said. He credits his son with having the knowledge of how things should be done. That does not mean that Wayne lacks business know-how for in 1970, he was named outstanding young farmer by the Reading Jaycees, and in 1974, he was named Master Farmer by Pennsylvania Farmer magazine.

William's skills are in the dairy end.

"I love cows. I never considered doing anything else — craziness, I guess," he said.

He does his own feed rationing for the 105 grade Holsteins that are bred for better production with better than average AI bulls and heifers.

William said, "We are working our way up and hope to have a 21,000-pound herd average soon."

William is very patient with cows but impatient with equipment; unlike his dad, who is impatient with cows and patient with equipment.

As a former 4-H'er and FFA student, William had gained much recognition in showing, judging, and speaking competitions. In college, he worked hard in student council, dairy council and public speaking, and, in 1985, was voted Mr. College of Agriculture.

The farm, store, and outside sales are treated as separate businesses. "That way we can know which one is making money or taking too much time," William said. "The secret to having a successful business is to have an excellent accountant and banker — and we do."

The accountant guided them through restructuring the business. He officially determined the profitability of each business, and set up a better record-keeping system.

"To find the right accountant," William said, "you must interview prospective ones. Ask similar businesses for the name of their accountant. Names that came cropping up usually have a good track record."

Like other farming operations, Way-Har Farms is affected by the weather. "Last summer we had 13 days that were more than 100 degrees, sales in ice cream and drinks broke record-highs. Although the farm crops suffered from lack of rain, the store profits outweigh the farm's losses.

"That's the nice thing about having several operations," Shirley said. When one isn't doing well, the other can carry it financially until you recoup your losses.

Local highway construction has been a boom to the lunch business since the highway crews like the chance to relax at the lunch tables while eating there. But Sunday continues to be the busiest day as many families stop for a quick lunch on the way home from church.

They plan to open a store bakery within the next several months.

Lolly and Shirley work hard to give the store eye appeal. Tucked in one corner is an antique children's ice cream parlor set with two cows dressed as children that appear to be enjoying ice cream sodas. The set is part of the ice cream memorabilia that Lolly collects and displays for customers' enjoyment.

About 60 percent of the farm's milk is wholesaled in six-gallon crates to restaurants and to 40 colleges. Wayne said that the store processes an average of 1,200 to 1,300 gallons of milk daily.

Store personnel wear shirts with the store logo, a Dutch girl and boy. "We chose the colors green because it's about as agricultural-grassroots as you can get and white because people associate that color with milk," Lolly said.

The store recently received a carton-design approval change.

The cows appear to be enjoying Way-Har ice cream sodas. The antique children's ice cream parlor set is a 1915 original, and part of Lolly's ice cream memorabilia that she displays in the store. The cows are for sale.

Ice cream that comes in 34 flavors keeps customers coming back to Way-Har Farms.

Lolly said, "It took six months to get approval. A lot of people do not realize how much needs to be done behind the scenes to make such a small change."

Department of Agriculture Region 7 approved the nutritional information, UPC codes and the basic design. The Milk Marketing Board checks pricing and licenses to see that the operation complies with DER standards, and the state milk sanitation guidelines from everything to what happens to the waste water from the processing plant to what materials are used to make the carton.

"The dairy industry is very competitive and it's not easy to be in the business," Wayne said. "We are fortunate that we can sell milk at a lower price since we process it here." Milk is sold for $2 a gallon.

Recently, the Leshers turned wholesale business away because Way-Har barns are as full as they can get them. But, William has plans to expand in the future.

He said, "I'd like to feed 300 cows. But we don't want to expand too fast because we want to have a quality product and be able to guarantee orders. Right now, we are concentrating on efficiency and streamline our operation."

The Leshers believe that wholesaling milk is the best way to go financially. To wholesale, they need to continue to retail.

To get a license for wholesaling, Wayne needed to appear before a hearing board, attain a license from PA milk truckers, producers, and distributors.

To know the laws that apply to business is difficult. "Some things you just learn the hard way,"Wayne said. For example, they did not know that it is mandatory in some states to have the business name on the truck or be fined until after they drove their trucks in other states.

Additional costs include fleet insurance required for their three refrigerator trucks and trailers. It took about $20,000 to invest in a jugger that crates the milk in six-gallon plastic bags.

The Leshers scrutinize profits to see if it's better to rent or own equipment, and are most pleased when they can buy good used equipment.

"The business is a lot of work, but I can't complain," Wayne said. "We struggled several years when I bought out the business, and there is always something to stay on top of, but it's rewarding finding success. It's worth the investment."

4-H HAPPENINGS

4-H Riders Round Up Ribbons

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Nearly 60 4-H members demonstrated skill and showmanship in 40 events at the 4-H western horse and pony shows at the Maryland State Fair in Timonium August 28 and 29.

Three of the biggest winners in the senior competition were Stephanie Wilt, 16, of Hagerstown (Washington County); Amy Lein, 16, of Joppa (Baltimore County); and Wendy Roberts, 18, of Aberdeen (Harford County), who together rounded up a total of 25 ribbons.

Stephanie, a veteran 4-H member, took top honors in Conformation- Fillies and Mares (horses 3 years old and over- dry, not nursing foal); Equitation-Stock Seat (ponies and horses); Performance - Western Command; and Performance - Western Pleasure (horses) on her quarter horse, Nita Creek, who was named champion mare.

Riding a quarter horse gelding, Heza Nylon Lad, she captured still more blue ribbons — this time for grooming and showmanship and performance trail.

These results weren't totally unexpected, at least to Stephanie, who began riding a pony before she was a year old and has been competing by herself since she was four. She won first place in the halter and second place in the trail events at last year's state fair, and has had a champion mare or gelding for the past nine years.

"There's always a certain edge before a competition," she said, "but I put my nerves pretty much behind me."

Amy Lein, another longtime 4-Her, captured seven ribbons, including three first-place blues — in the barrel race for horses on her Appaloosa gelding, Toe the Line Toby, and in conformation geldings (ponies 3 years old and over) and performance-western pleasure (ponies) on NDS Licorice Bits, a Pony of America gelding. NDS Licorice Bits was named the reserve champion gelding.

Amy, who is president of the Perry Hall 4-H Club, also participates in 4-H food and home economics activities.

Wendy Roberts, a six-year 4-H member, earned 10 ribbons. Her accomplishments included first place in the conformation (yearlings) event on her crossbred gelding, Still Debatin, who was named champion in his age category. She also took top honors in the barrel and keyhole races for ponies on her 16-year-old Pony of America, Cloudy Sunrise.

The wins on Cloudy Sunrise were especially rewarding for Wendy, who heads off to Wilson College in Pennsylvania this fall.

"Cloudy is the first pony I ever rode," she said.

Blue ribbons in other Western horse show events went to:

severe arthritis climb on, and he had a marvelous time."

Linda thinks their most memorable experience was the couple who got engaged while taking a wagon ride. "It was over the July Fourth celebration and we were offering rides at a special event in Bedford," she says. "This young man came over and asked if he and his girlfriend could take a ride. We hadn't gone two blocks until he popped the question. I got so excited I almost forgot to collect his money."

A Canoe Classic held annually in Everett was a success for the Sells despite a steady rain.

When the Bedford Fair opened in August, it was Fred and Linda who transported the fair officials around the fairgrounds. They also offered surrey rides from the parking lot to the main part of the grounds. "And, some just wanted to go for a ride," Linda said.

Both of the Sells have been very involved in bringing draft horse competition to the fair. It was Fred who led a team of volunteers to construct a new draft horse barn at the fairgrounds. "It's one of the nicest buildings we have," says John Holbert, a fair official.

The Sells transport their horses in a specially built trailer. "I put a horse trailer on top of a house trailer frame and have room for both the horses and the wagons," Fred says.

Upcoming events for the rest of the year will include the Fall Foliage Festival in Bedford and a number of Christmas parades.

The Sells raise their own hay on the nearly 200-acre farm they lease. Most of their time is devoted to the horses and promotion of draft horses throughout the country.

"We're having a lot of fun," Linda says. "And, we hope to eventually be able to make a good living at this."

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

Honey is not just for toast or a peanut butter sandwich anymore. More and more Americans are using it in baked goods and meat products, according to a recent survey by Associated Marketing Inc. Since September is National Honey Month, I decided to share a few micro-quick honey recipes reflecting those new tastes.

While honey adds a golden brown touch to conventionally baked goods, research is still being conducted to determine its exact effect in microwave cooking, according to Tana R. Roberts, administrative assistant from Evans Communications who works with the National Honey Board.

Honey also adds "keeping" qualities because of its ability to absorb and retain moisture. These qualities retard drying out and staling of baked goods in which honey is an ingredient. In Applesauce Honey Bran Muffins (below), honey helps product moist muffins that taste great served warm or cold. Microwaved muffins have a tendency to dry out quickly and should be served warm or reheated. Not these — in fact, if any are left after a day, they should be stored in the refrigerator or freezer to prevent molding.

Honey is used with meat and poultry for marinades, basting sauces, and glazes — mainly for the flavor it gives. You may want to select one of the stronger flavors of honey, rather than mild-flavored clover honey, if you like a distinct honey flavor to shine through.

The two sauce recipes below are versatile. They are made in minutes and can be served warm or cold. Honey Lemon Sauce adds a rich smooth finish to fresh fruits. Especially good are berries or peaches. It's also super as a syrup over pancakes or waffles or a dessert sauce on plain cake or ice cream. Or, it makes a wonderful marinade and basting sauce for grilled meats and poultry. Honey Lemon Basil Sauce glamorizes a variety of cooked vegetables. And it, too, makes a tasty basting sauce.

Honey is best stored at room temperature. Honey will naturally crystallize in time, but this does not mean it's spoiled. Use your microwave to liquify crystallized honey. To make the golden liquid return, simply microwave one cup of crystallized honey on High for 2 to 3 minutes, stirring after each 30 seconds. Do not boil.

Applesauce Honey Bran Muffins

1 cup whole-wheat flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon cinnamon
⅓ cup raisins
¾ cup soured milk*
1½ cups bran cereal
⅓ cup honey
¼ cup vegetable oil
1 egg, beaten
½ cup unsweetened applesauce

On waxed paper or in a small mixing bowl, stir together whole-wheat flour, baking soda, baking powder, cinnamon and raisins; mix well and set aside.

Pour soured skim milk over bran cereal in large mixing bowl. Let stand 3 to 5 minutes to soften cereal. Stir in honey, oil, egg and applesauce. Stir in flour mixture; mix until ingredients are just combined. Batter will be thick.

Prepare microwave muffin cups by lining each with a paper baking cup. Fill each about ⅔ full. For 6 muffins: Microwave (High) 1½ to 2¼ minutes, rotating ½ turn if necessary after 1 minute. Cool about 2 minutes before removing from cups. Repeat with remaining batter. Serve warm or cold. Store in a tightly covered container in refrigerator or freezer. Makes about 18 muffins.

*To make soured milk: Pour ¾ teaspoon of white vinegar or lemon juice into a measure. Add milk to the ¾ -cup line.

Note: These muffins look brown and almost baked because of the dark-colored ingredients. If you'd like, add a topping of sugar and cinnamon (¾ to 1 teaspoon cinnamon to 1 tablespoon sugar) before microwaving.

Each muffin: 93 calories, 2g protein, 4g fat, 15g carbohydrate, 86mg sodium, 13mg cholesterol.

Honey Lemon Sauce

½ cup water
1 tablespoon cornstarch
½ cup honey
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel

Combine water and cornstarch in a 1-quart microwavable measure. Add remaining ingredients. Microwave (High) 1½ minutes; stir well. Continue microwaving 2 to 2½ minutes or until mixture boils and thickens. Serve warm or cold over fresh fruit, French toast, waffles, ice cream or cake. Or, brush on chicken, pork chops or ribs toward the end of grilling or baking. Makes 1¼ cups.

Each 2-tablespoon serving: 86 calories, 0 protein, 4g fat, 15g carbohydrate, 42mg sodium, 10mg cholesterol.

Honey Lemon Basil Sauce

2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup honey
1-2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon dried basil, crushed, or
1 tablespoon chopped fresh basil

Place onion and butter in microwavable 2-cup measure. Cover with plastic wrap. Microwave (High) 1½ to 2 minutes or until onion is soft and translucent. Stir in remaining ingredients and microwave (High) 45 to 90 seconds or until boiling. Stir well. Serve over cooked carrots, cauliflower, sprouts or winter squash. Or, use as a marinade and basting sauce for grilled or broiled chicken or beef steaks, or as a basting sauce and glaze for roasted ham. Makes about ½ cup.

Hint: Vary amount of lemon juice to suit your taste. For a marinade, I'd suggest using 2 or even more tablespoons of lemon juice.

Each 1-tablespoon serving: 57 calories, 0 protein, 3g fat, 9g carbohydrate, 38mg sodium, 9mg cholesterol.

Infrared Heaters with Individual Temperature Control

IN FARROWING BUILDINGS OR NURSERIES, DIFFERENT TEMPERATURES CAN BE SET FOR DIFFERENT CRATES OR PENS, DEPENDING ON THE PIGS' AGE THE WILL AUTOMATICALLY CONTROL EACH ONE INDEPENDENTLY.

Comfort Zone

Put extra pigs in every litter.

Efficient SBM downgoing heat gives you up to 7% more pigs weaned because they grow healthier and more disease free.* SBM stainless steel heaters are the most cost effective heating systems available today. Fuel savings can run up to 50% or more because you heat the pigs not the air. Find out more today about SBM heaters and controls.

RYE SEED

New Danko Rye Seed offers many advantages including yields approximately as high as wheat (up to 80 bu/acre) plus high resistance to winter injury, lodging & sprouting.

Danko is a fine-seeded rye variety & Davey-Joan's of Williamstown, New York is a major propagator and source of Danko rye seed in the U.S. They report that even with this year's above normal (25") rainfall in their area in May, June & July they have experienced no lodging or sprouting.

Danko can be planted from the 2nd week in September to November 1st. The ideal time is the first week of October. It grows later in the fall & starts earlier in the Spring.

Davey-Joan's has clean seed available in both bulk truck or trailer loads and in bushel bags at $6.00 bagged or $5.50 bulk per bushel - FOB Williamstown, N.Y. Please call for quotes on tractor trailer load quantities.

Got Grain? Then get the trailer that is Timpte tough...the Super Hopper. It's not only built to take it...it's also built to cut fuel costs. The Super Hopper is lightweight and aerodynamically designed to reduce wing drag. When there's grain to be hauled, Timpte does the haulin' best and pulls a lot easier than the rest.

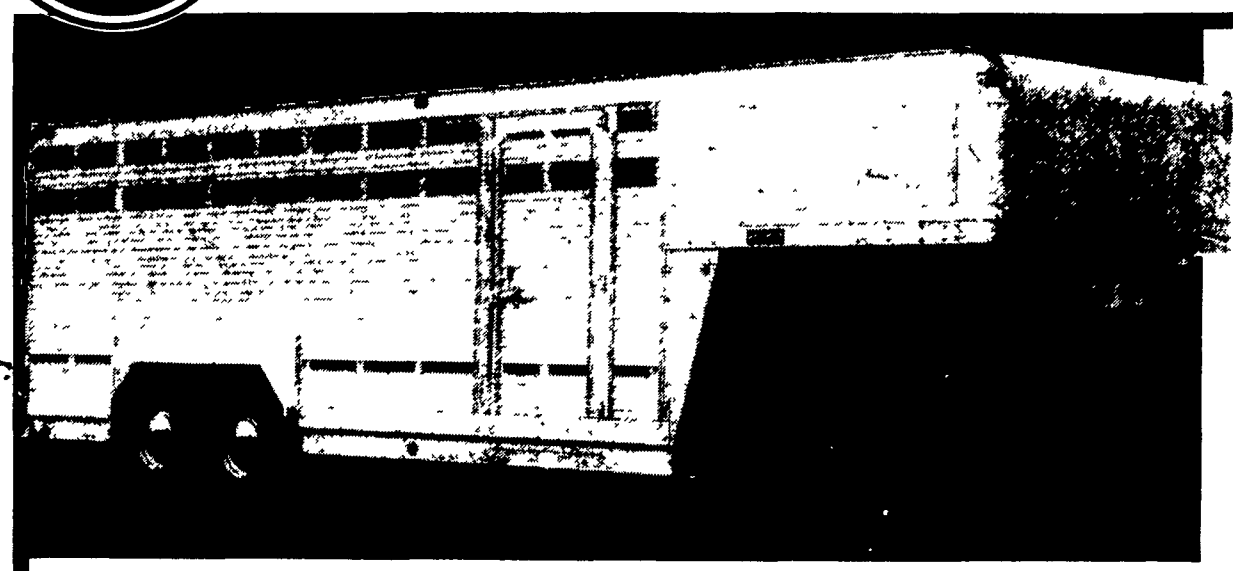
INTRODUCING THE REDESIGNED

WRANGLER



Looking better for '91.

OUR BEST VALUE TRAILER JUST GOT BETTER.

The new Wrangler. More aerodynamic. Better looking. And the strongest Wrangler yet. With top-quality components and rugged construction, this Wrangler is the best trailer value you can find.

- LIGHTWEIGHT- Eby stock trailers are 25-35% lighter than comparable steel trailers. Less weight means better fuel mileage or increased payload.
- MAINTENANCE- Eby aluminum trailers won't rust. Welding and painting can cost you dollars in down time and repairs.
- DURABILITY- Eby trailers are built tough. Quality components and 6061 alloy aluminum provide the ruggedness required in a livestock trailer.

Crawford County Holds 4-H Dairy Roundup

A number of Crawford County 4-H youth earned berths to the Northwest 4-H District Dairy Show when they took home blue ribbons from their county 4-H dairy roundup late August.

According to extension and 4-H officials the roundup "is the climax of the 4-H Dairy program for most 4-H members of Crawford County dairy clubs."

The youth competed in fitting and showmanship competitions and then by presenting their project animals before the judges. There was also a clipping contest, a timed event in which the youth competed to best fit their animal.

Judging for showmanship was Greg Moff, from Boardman, Ohio. From Columbiana, Ohio, was fitting judge James Miller. Ron Buffington, from Dublin, Ohio, was Holstein judge. Dave Trotter, from Enon Valley, was Colored Breed judge.

In the clipping contest, Alicia Dengler won in the 8-year-old class; Brenda Smith in the 9- to 10-year-old class; Kimberly Miller in the 11- to 13-year-old class; and Beth Ann Duncan was top clipper in the 14-year-old and older class.

The results of the roundup were:

Producers Should Try To Get More For Milk

MEDINA, OHIO — Over 100 dairy farmer directors and delegates heard three nationally known speakers outline how milk producers in Federal Order 36 must organize and negotiate with milk processors to increase the net income on the milk they produce and sell.

The Producers' Equalization Agency (Agency) recently held the mid-day meeting in West Middlesex, Pennsylvania. According to John Siglow, general manager of the agency, the purpose of the meeting was to inform the directors and delegates what dairy farmers can do to increase their bottom line through pricing their milk.

The agency strongly advises dairy farmers to become involved in milk pricing in order to improve their net income. Siglow said that in the last three years, net returns to dairy farmers in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania have been the lowest in the nation.

The three speakers updated dairy farmers on the predicted future of their industry. These speakers were Robert Yonkers, Assistant Professor of Agricultural Economics, Penn State University; Robert Jacobson, Professor of Agricultural Economics, Ohio State University, and David Hunley of the Mid-East UDIA.

Yonkers predicted that milk prices will drop in 1991 by $1.00 to $2.00 per cwt. He said he expects a budget reduction in the 1990 Farm Bill which will continue to reduce government involvement in milk pricing. Looking ahead to the year 2000, Yonkers said that dairy farmers will likely use collective bargaining with milk processors in order to offset price drops and to reduce instability in the milk price.

Jacobson echoed Yonkers' prediction of a drop in milk prices, but placed it around $1.40 in 1991. He said that over-order premiums are not an unreasonable request on the part of dairy farmers, and that processors are not opposed to over-order pricing if it is negotiated rather than forced upon them. He said the key to establishing a fair price is through a joint effort on the part of the vast majority of dairy farmers within Federal Order 36.

Hunley gave a slide presentation to explain the current high profitability of dairy products at the retail level. He said dairy farmers need unity, organization and good management in order to tap in to the unrealized profitability of dairy products today and in the future.

Is Your Corn Picker Engine In Shape To Handle This Year's Heavy Crop?

This twin 20 hp is becoming very popular for hay balers and other applications traditionally equipped with 2 cylinder Wisc. engines and can also replace the older 4 cylinder engines on some applications.

Works very well to run corn pickers, crimpers and mower crimper units. We can mount your Wisc. clutch reduction for $1495 or sell the engine with used Wisc. reduction for $1995. Price includes picking up your clutch and delivery of completed unit for you. (Lancaster County Only)

We Only Have A Limited Amount Of These Engines Available w/Reduction
Also Available:
20 HP (Same model) With STD Shaft To Run Hay Balers

Case International 5100 Drill with Hydraulic Two-Drill Hitch

The field-proven 5100 Drill, unequalled for precise seeding, with hydraulic two-drill attachment lets you double your capacity. Save valuable time and fuel. Hydraulics let you go from transport to working position and back without leaving your tractor seat. The 5100 Drill features feed cups with fluted rolls, large throat clearance, and exclusive tapered metering edge. Big-capacity plain or combination hoppers. Seed delivery is to the front of the openers allowing for more accurate seed placement and permits faster seeding speeds. And a new optional hydraulic marker system saves seed by reducing overlaps and skips.

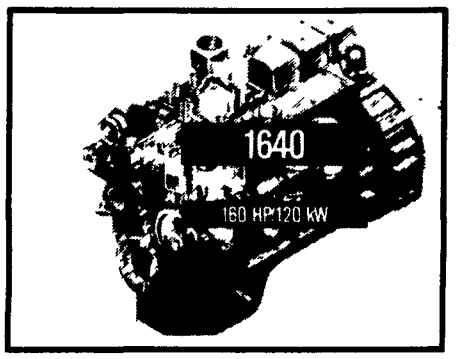
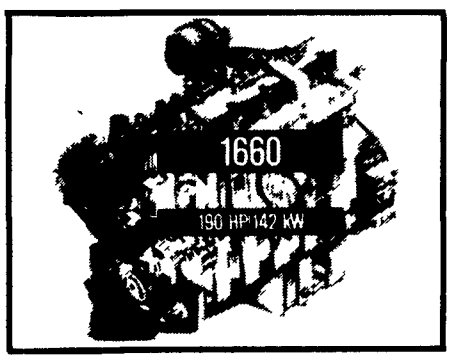
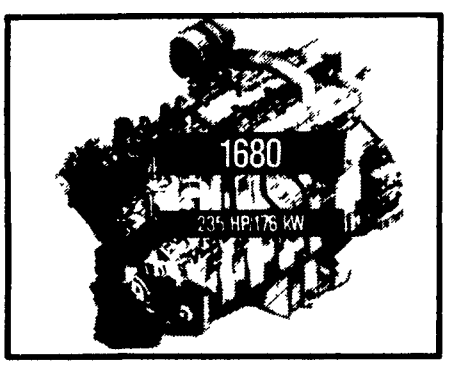
"XPE" AXIAL FLOW COMBINES MEAN EXTRA POWER & ECONOMY...

The "XPE" Axial Flow Combines are powered with the CASE-IH diesel engines -- the same engines that have been used in the MAGNUM and FARGO-BUILT 4WD tractor lines for at least the last 5 years. These are field-tested engines designed to produce thousands of hours of use on today's farms at EXTRA savings for fuel and repairs.







These engines were designed from the ground up using the latest in diesel technology. On the models where turbo-charges and aftercoolers are used. They were designed in. Not bolted on as an afterthought. Starting from scratch CASE-IH engineers were able to combine components into integrated systems, resulting in fewer total parts. That means a lot less can go wrong, and if there is a problem, there's a lot less to fix.

A few specific areas of the engines get the most stress, so that's where they put the extra weight and strength. By computer aided stress analysis, engineers found that some areas don't need that much strength, so they built the engines lighter there. That means less weight and better fuel economy.

HOOBER customers tell us that they have noticed as much as a 30 percent reduction in fuel expense when they changed to a CASE-IH "XPE" Axial Flow combine from a conventional combine. Over the useful life of a combine that amounts to a very significant savings.

THE CASE-IH Axial Flow COMBINE IS ECONOMICAL TO OWN AND TO RUN... TRY A DEMO TODAY!!!

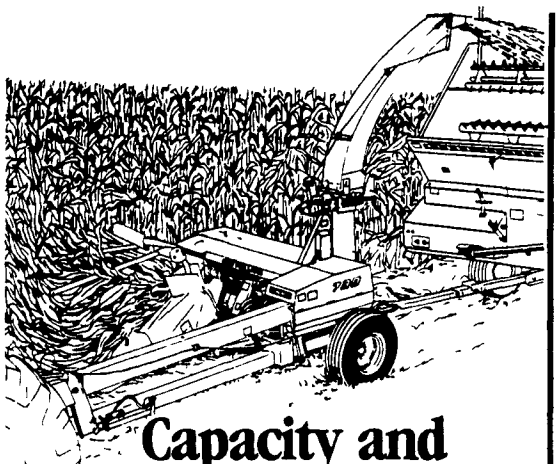
VERSATILE® PULLS AS WELL AS IT PUSHES!



Capacity and efficiency for fast harvesting

When it comes to harvesting, you can't beat the heavy-duty performance that's built into the New Holland Model 790 forage harvester. Performance starts at the cutterhead. The 19¹¹/₁₆-inch wide, 12-knife cutterhead delivers a fine uniform chop that's just right for most silage feeding operations. And an electric clutch gives instant response and positive control on the reversing gearbox. The Model 790 is available with either a 540-rpm or a 1000-rpm PTO drive.

Stop in today and trade for the performance leader in harvesters—the "790" from Ford New Holland.

★ New Wider Heavy Duty Super Sprag 1-1/32" Wide
★ 5 Yr. Warranty Against Sprag Failure
★ Introductory Price $695.00

We are pleased to announce a major improvement in TA strength & performance backed up by a warranty that is unmatched in the industry The 5/8" width Dana sprag which we have used over the past 10 years has proven its ability to perform under the most adverse of conditions and has achieved results that have sent our competitors scrambling to keep up By increasing the width of the sprag to 1-1/32" and caging it in a heavier frame, we now have an unmatched shock load capacity and dramatically raised our load carrying ability Our studies have shown that 90% of TA problems are directly related to sprag failure We feel that we now have the strongest sprag & best rebuilt TA available and it will be warranted as follows

5 yr. - 100% parts & labor against sprag
2 yr. - 100% parts & labor on remainder of unit
Our standard heavy duty TA is still available at $645 00 and carries a *2 yr - 100% parts & labor warranty.
Certain restrictions apply and there will be a maximum labor pay-out of $450.00.
We also have units & parts available to rebuild old style TA's, including ramp & carrier sets
NEW price on ramps & carries - $200 00

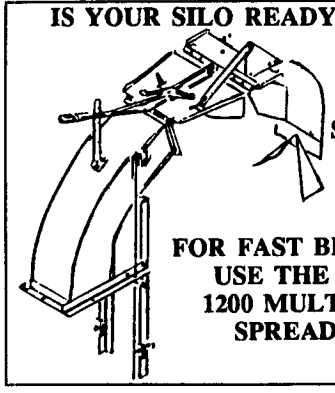
ATTENTION FARMERS
Strengthen And Reseal Your Silo With Shotcrete

S & S Silo Serivce Has Experience
Over 700 Silos Have Been Relined With Shotcrete

IS YOUR SILO READY TO BE FILLED WITH GRASS SILAGE?



FOR FAST BLOWING USE THE NEW 1200 MULTI-FLO SPREADER!

S&S Silo Service prepares the silo surface by using a 3,000 lb. pressure washer, thus making the silo moist, making a much better surface to bond shotcrete. After shotcreting, S&S always takes away any roughness by applying a steel trowel finish.

The excellent bonding of shotcrete to the silo will keep out moisture and prevent mold from growing on the side of the silo.

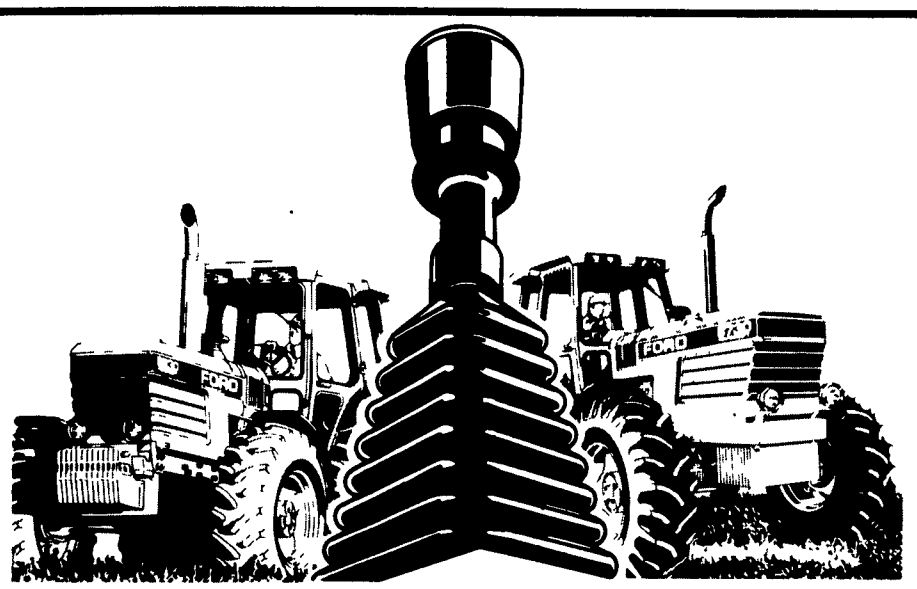
FORD NEW HOLLAND

Comin' On STRONG



Introducing Ultra-Command™ powershift... the shortest distance between two points.

Only on new Ford 8030 Series tractors

Simpler, straight-line shuttling between forward and reverse is only the most obvious advantage of new Ultra-Command™ powershift. The real advantage is this: it's the smoothest, easiest-to-use powershift ever.

With Ultra-Command™, any shifting action takes just a single movement of the lever. You can even pre- select the gears you want to work in before you start— it takes only seconds. And with 18 forward gears and 9 reverse gears, you get more working speeds to choose from.

Four models are available: Model 8530 (105 PTO hp), Model 8630 (121 PTO hp), Model 8730 (140 PTO hp) and Model 8830 (170 PTO hp). Ultra-Command™ is available on the three larger models.

Md. Fair Beef Show Parades Champion

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — For the third time in 30 years, a member of the Mullinix family from Lisbon (Howard County) paraded a grand champion in the 4-H and FFA beef steer show this year at the Maryland State Fair in Timonium.

The 1990 winner was a 1,250-pound Angus-Limousin and Maine-Anjou crossbred, calved on a Wisconsin farm and purchased by the Mullinix family at a feeder calf sale last November during the North American International Livestock Exposition in Louisville, KY.

The steer brought $2.65 per pound in the 4-H and FFA livestock sale held Aug. 29 during the Maryland State Fair.

This year's state fair grand champion steer was shown by Chris Mullinix, 15. The steer's half-brother won grand champion honors just two weeks earlier at the Howard County Fair near West Friendship. That steer was exhibited by Chris's brother, Randy Mullinix, 13.

The boys' sister, Beth Mullinix, had the grand champion steer 10 years ago at the state fair. And their father, Gene W. Mullinix, showed a purebred Hereford steer to grand champion honors exactly 30 years previous to the Aug. 27 date of this year's 4-H and FFA beef steer show at the Maryland State Fair.

Since that time, the elder Mullinix has developed one of the largest cattle feeding operations in the East. Surrounded by housing developments, his feedlots turn out more than 2,000 fed cattle per year for Eastern restaurants and supermarkets. The operation was begun by his father, the late R. H. Mullinix.

During a conversation at this year's Maryland State Fair, Gene Mullinix noted that a comparison of the 1990 grand champion steer with his champion of 1960 illustrates progress made by the beef cattle industry in the last 30 years.

In those days, 4-H and FFA beef shows were called baby beef shows. The steers of that era were considerably smaller than today's steers at the same age. The 1960 grand champion weighed exactly 200 pounds less than his 1990 counterpart. This reflects improvements both in genetics and in feed rations, Mullinix said.

"My champion steer of 30 years ago gained 1½ pounds per day while he was on feed. Today's fed steers normally gain 2½ to 3 pounds per day."

Mullinix's 1960 champion also was much fatter than his 1990 counterpart, grading U.S. Prime compared with low Choice -- leeaner grade -- for this year's show winner. This reflects changes in consumer preferences.

"Today's beef contains 20 percent less fat than it did 30 years ago," Mullinix said. "To help achieve this goal, cattle feeders like me include more oats and other fiber in their feed rations. And, of course, breeders today look for genetic traits in cattle which produce less backfat."

There was no 4-H or FFA livestock sale 30 years ago at the Maryland State Fair, so no price comparison exists for the senior Mullinix's grand champion steer.

There were plenty of proud moments for the Mullinix family at this year's Maryland State Fair.

In addition to showing the grand champion and crossbred champion in the 4-H and FFA beef steer show, Chris Mullinix had the champion Shorthorn and reserve champion Hereford. Randy Mullinix led out the reserve champion Angus.

Chris also had the champion Hereford and reserve champion Angus in the state fair 4-H and FFA beef heifer show. And he qualified for the "A" team which will represent Maryland in regional and national 4-H livestock judging competition this fall. He was last year's state fair champion in the 4-H and FFA beef fitting and showing contest.

Beef Show Held At South Mountain

GETTYSBURG (Adams Co.)— The annual Adams County 4-H beef show was held at the 1990 South Mountain Fair.

Kevin Grim, Thomasville, showed the 1,175-pound champion 4-H steer. Kevin was also reserve champion fitter and reserve champion showman.

Jamie Boyer, East Berlin, showed the 1,060-pound reserve champion 4-H steer. Jamie was champion fitter.

Mandy Hilbert, Littlestown, was champion showman for the 4-H beef show.

Old Is New Again At Celebration

SINKING SPRING (Berks Co.) — On Sunday, October 7, 1990, from 12 p.m. to 5:30 p.m., everything old is new again at the ninth annual Heritage Celebration.

Come and take part in the many activities and watch daily life as it was in the "good ol'e days" unfold before your eyes. This recreation of a time gone by is sponsored by the Berks County Park and Recreation Department and will take place at the Heritage Center located on Red Bridge Road in Bern Township.

Carriages, wagons, and sleighs that once dotted the fields in Berks County and eastern PA will be on display to serve as a reminder of the early modes of transportation. Cindy Kunkle and Susan Green will judge these pieces of workmanship and present four ribbons in each of the eight classes as well as trophies for grand champion, reserve champion, best of show farm wagon, and the best show gruber wagon. Also on display are antique autos dated up to and including the 1950s. All vehicles must be pre-registered by September 21, 1990.

At 12 p.m. the plowing, log skidding, and horse pulling exhibitions will begin. Watch as teams of horses and oxen demonstrate five different types of plows.

Take time to relax on a pleasure ride along the scenic Union Canal Towpath. Mules once walked this towpath as they pulled the canal boats along the Union Canal. The five-mile ride will depart from the Heritage Center grounds at 2 p.m. At approximately this same time, the large horses will begin lining up for the horse pulling competition. This event consists of horses pulling a weighted sled over a measure distance. The team who pulls the heaviest weight the farthest distance is the winner.

The special attraction of the day will be The Pennsylvania Pleasure Walking Horse Association presenting a demonstration at 3:45 p.m. Following this event will be the hitching and driving demonstrations.

The Berks County Heritage Center is located one mile north of the Reading Airport on PA Route 183. Parking will be available on the Heritage Center grounds ($1 fee); GPU, IZOD, and Penn State Student Parking lots will also be available for parking and shuttle bus service will be provided to and from the Heritage Center.

United Farm Tools Changes Colors

GLASGOW, Ky. — Dealers of United Farm Tools machinery will soon be seeing red, and they'll probably be glad.

In a move to standardize the look of its specialty farm machinery line, United Farm Tools is painting all its products red. That should make work easier for the manufacturer's dealers, who will now be able to point to a unified appearance, and sell quality by association.

In the past, the company's various machines have been gray, red, or orange. Now, in red only, the equipment is instantly recognizable as that of UFT, a make long known among farmers for high quality, according to President Sam Lawson. Besides the new paint scheme, all United Farm Tools machines will now carry the red, white and black UFT logo.

FIELD STUDIES SEEK ANSWERS

David C. Kradel
M.S., M.P.H., D.V.M.

In the Poultry Diagnostic Laboratory at Penn State, disease and production problems are sometimes encountered which have no clear answer.

When possible, some of these problems are further investigated by combining greater in-depth field investigations with attempts to reproduce the problem under conditions similar to those found in the field.

The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture has provided support through funding, facilities such as the Poultry Health Management Test Center at Penn State, personnel, and cooperation — enabling some of this problem-solving research to be done.

Avian influenza

When avian influenza recurred in 1985, the first cases were diagnosed at the Penn State Poultry Diagnostic Laboratory. An immediate epidemiological investigation established the source of the avian influenza virus as dirty poultry crates from an out-of-state live bird market.

This outbreak resulted in regulations requiring cleaning and disinfecting of equipment and crates before being brought onto poultry farms. It again emphasized the necessity for better biosecurity on poultry farms.

Pennsylvania continues to maintain the most extensive avian influenza surveillance system in the country.

Salmonella enteritidis

Salmonella enteritidis (SE), although not a significant disease of chickens, is of public health concern. Applied research and monitoring have addressed such questions as the sources of SE infection for commercial flocks and procedures for flock testing and control.

Important findings have included the demonstration that rodents are an important source for SE infection. Good rodent control, along with the continued maintenance of SE-free breeder flocks and environmental sanitation, will be important measures to reduce this problem.

Our work has also suggested that bacterial culturing of pooled "blood" eggs may be a rational method to monitor a flock.

Ascites syndrome

The ascites syndrome causes young birds to develop enlarged bellies that are full of a fluid containing a gelatin-like material.

Although most cases involve only a small number of birds, occasional outbreaks involve a high percentage of the flock. The basic cause of the ascites syndrome is a gradually developing heart failure resulting from various bird strain, physiological, and environmental conditions.

In several outbreaks, we have been able to reproduce the condition with the feed involved but have been unable to determine the specific nutrient or substance in feed that may have been responsible.

Researchers in veterinary and poultry science are also doing other basic research with this problem.

Runting and stunting syndrome

Runting and stunting is a problem where some birds grow very unevenly or remain small.

Research at Penn State is examining some of the bird, environmental, nutritional, and virus interactions responsible for this problem.

Researchers in veterinary science are now trying to reproduce the condition with viral isolates made from field cases.

Rickets-like conditions

Rickets or a rickets-like condition are periodically encountered in turkeys, chickens, ducks, and pheasants.

Sometimes the cause is clear and is a deficiency or imbalance of calcium, phosphorus, or vitamin D. In other cases, there is no clear evidence of a nutritional deficiency or imbalance.

Our work suggested that in some cases an unidentified factor associated with some litters may be responsible.

An investigation of a widespread problem in poults causing poor growth and an abnormal walking gait was shown to be associated with a trace mineral deficiency.

Other problems

Some of the other problems investigated in increased depth have included erysipelas vaccination in pheasants, round heart disease in turkeys, salt toxicity in chickens, subclinical adenovirus infection in layers, riboflavin deficiency, and prussic acid poisoning with botulism in pheasants.

Swine Management News

4-H, FFA, Swine Projects More Than Winning

DR. RICHARD BARCZEWSKI
Extension County Agricultural Agent
University of Delaware

Last week I finished up my responsibilities with the freeder hog roundup at the state fair. This event is the culmination of the 4-H and FFA swine projects for youngsters, which ends with a show and sale of those animals. The Pork Producers Association and the state fair contribute to the prizes awarded, and local hog buyers help out by purchasing the hogs for their packing houses.

Sometimes I think that the people involved in the roundup really don't understand what the junior hog project is all about. They get geared up to win the weight classes their pigs are entered in, or better yet, the overall championship, instead of taking time to consider the deeper purpose of this project.

Junior swine projects offer youngsters an opportunity to learn about one phase of the swine industry — the growing-finishing phase. In addition to this learning process, the exhibitor is exposed to the problems and solutions that face pork producers on a daily basis. Any livestock project also involves the outlay of money, so the youngsters learn a little about the economics of swine rearing as well.

I think back to some of my own times as an exhibitor of 4-H project animals. This experience with livestock projects contributed to my choosing a career in the livestock industry. At the same time, other livestock projects, such as judging, gave me the opportunity to break out of my shell of shyness to become a more outspoken person. I'll bet some of you who know me now can't believe that I ever hesitated to speak up!

The success of any junior livestock project demands on the input of many adult volunteers. For the Delaware feeder hog roundup, these adults start with the project members' parents, 4-H or FFA advisors, and county 4-H or livestock agents. Others involved in one way or another include feed dealers, veterinarians, farm-supply store owners, extension specialists, and swine producers.

This exposure to many different people helps the exhibitor grow in confidence and knowledge about the swine project. If everything goes well, the youngster will end the project with a better understanding of the growing-finishing phase of the hog industry. This doesn't make him or her an expert or even ready to compete in the livestock industry, but it does offer a basic understanding.

Why is this important? Look around and see what's happening in the world today. Many of our farm kids are leaving production agriculture for jobs off the farm. These jobs have little to do with agriculture and some youngsters may never return to farm life. In some cases, the swine project is a link to bring a suburban kid back to agriculture.

Junior livestock projects can help the industry educate people about the job it's doing in animal housing, feeding and care. Who better to speak on behalf of the livestock industry than someone who has first-hand knowledge?

I know what the junior livestock projects did for me and I've seen others benefit directly from the experience. We need to continue these opportunities for kids who want them. The thing to remember is that whether a youngster wins the championship or not is not what's important. What is important is that their lives are enriched by the experience.

Both 4-H and FFA are great programs that offer kids a chance to learn that which under normal circumstances they might not. Even for farm kids, these programs offer new ideas that may not be in use on the farm.

Why not offer a youngster the chance to gain a little from your livestock experience? Take the time to talk to your local FFA advisor or 4-H livestock project club leader and share some of your knowledgew. It may be something that you didn't know you were missing in your life. At the same time you will be enriching the lives of others.

Jacoby Wins ASA Award

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Don Jacoby, vice president of sales for Northrup King Co., was presented the American Soybean Association's (ASA) Agribusiness Award at the Soybean Expo on Sunday, July 29.

The yearly award recognizes an individual who performs noteworthy service to ASA in building profits for soybean farmers across the U.S.

"Because of Don Jacoby's zealous efforts, Northrup King dealers are strongly promoting ASA membership across the countryside," said ASA President Marlyn Jorgensen.

As liaison between Northrup King and ASA's membership program, Jacoby made NK dealers aware of the benefits of becoming members. In addition, dealers are familiar with the ASA membership program because the program is explained on two full pages in their dealer manuals.

New 12-Row Hugger Corn Head

NORCROSS, Ga.— Deutz-Allis Corporation is introducing a new 12-row Hugger corn head specially designed for its rotary Gleaner combine R-60 and R-70 models.

The new Model R1230 Hugger corn head has a width of 30 feet and weighs 8,400 pounds, said John Hyer, manager, combine products. Its row spacings are 30 inches.

The Model R1230 has a low angle of 21.5 degrees to make it easier to get under fallen and lodged stalks, thus reducing ear loss, according to Hyer. The corn head's ear savers are removable for down and lodged corn, and each row unit has its own protective slip clutch.

The new Hugger corn head has been designed for long life and smooth, quiet and reliable operation during high capacity harvesting. A newly designed gearbox drive unit means fewer drive chains to worry about.

Hyer lists these other features of the new Hugger corn head:

• Each row unit has machined mounting surfaces to ensure proper drive shaft alignment and stability.

• Each row unit has quick-detach ear savers on the inner gathering assembly that can be removed or installed with the snap of a lever. There are no bolts to remove when installing or removing ear savers.

• A PTO drive line between the combine and the corn head eliminates chain couplers, making corn head hookup quicker and easier. Inner and outer gathr sheets tilt up for easy row unit inspections and snapping roll blades are reversible for longer life. The conveyor drive shield is hinged for easy access to the conveyor drive chain, and it closes with a snap fastener.

In addition to the new model 12-row Hugger corn head for the R-60 and R-70 Gleaner combines, Deutz-Allis Hugger corn heads also are available in four-, five-, six- and eight-row sizes for Gleaner rotary combines.

Computer Controls Feed System

KANSAS CITY, Mo.— Around-the-clock controlled feeding utilizing up to four feed stuffs individually blended for dairy cows confined in stanchion/tie stall barns is now practical for any size operation with the new De Laval StanionMaster™ feeder.

The StanchionMaster travels by battery power around the barn on an overhead monorail to give each cow an individually weighed ration mixed to any accuracy of ±0.02 pound. (It uses the same monorail used by the current model of the De Laval Feed car.)

On command, this new system can also provide a printed summary of each cow's daily feed consumption of each of four feeds. A microprocessor on the feeder keeps an accurate record of the individually blended ration delivered to each cow each day.

Users are offered a choice of two control systems: either a magnetic reader above each stall which identifies the ration for that cow place, or an electronic ID system whereby each cow wears a HerdMaster transponder on a collar which communicates the cow's identity to the feeder's on-board computer that is programmed for each cow. In this case, it is not necessary for each cow to assume the same stall each day. Regardless, the operator is assured the cow will receive multiple, individualized rations each day.

Each cow receives an individually blended ration containing an exact fractional portion of her total daily ration calculated on the number of times the feeder visits the cow each 24 hours. The system is clock-controlled, so the number of daily feedings is limited only by requirements for automatic reloading with feed and recharging of the battery, and size of the barn. It can be manually operated at any time.

Constructed throughout of durable, non-corrosive materials, using stainless steel and ABS plastic, the StanchionMaster is designed to withstand typical barn conditions. It also features an emergency stop which would be actuated should the feeder encounter a fixed object, animal or person. Overall, the feeder is less than five feet high and three feet wide, yet can carry up to 1,069 pounds of feedstuffs. The largest of the four bins holds 12.1 cubic feet, or 484 pounds.

The on-board microprocessor is "menu-driven," and is easily programmed using the dust-proof keypad on the feeder. Information is displayed an an easy-to-read LCD display panel, and the operator can visually check each cow's status on the panel at any time.

For more information, contact StanchionMaster™, Alfa-Laval Agri, Inc., 11100 N. Congress Ave., Kansas City, MO 64153.

Manure Spreader Holds More

KAUKAUNA, Wis. — Two new manure spreader sizes featuring increased capacity are now available from Badger Northland Inc., the Kaukauna, Wisconsin-based manufacturer of farm materials handling equipment.

Badger's new BN3242 manure spreader, a single-axle model with an A.S.A.E. capacity of 278 cubic feet (242 bu.), and the BN3282, a tandem-axle spreader offering a 323 cubic-foot load capacity (282 bu.), feature advanced, five-speed hydraulic apron drives for better control from the tractor seat and faster clean out times. With hydraulic drive design, Badger manure spreaders eliminate the need for jaw clutches and require less power from the P.T.O. and "V" belt, assuring them of a longer life.

Badger's two new manure spreaders also feature aggressive, 30-inch diameter beaters which permit the unit's heat-treated combs to provide better distribution, even when spreading heavy, frozen clumps of manure. The 3/16 inch thick, high-carbon combs are highly wear-resistant, and Badger's standard extra combs are replaceable without torching.

The BN3330 manure spreader, a tandem-axled unit offering a 383 cubic-foot capacity (330 bu.), remains the largest model Badger has to offer. This unit rounds out Badger's line of tough manure spreaders and is designed to accommodate the heaviest manure handling loads.

All three Badger manure spreaders offer a simple, built-in slip clutch to the "V" belt beater drive for better reliability. There are no main drive disc, ratchet, or shearpin clutches that can rust, corrode, or freeze after years of seasonal use.

For more information on Badger's new BN3242 and BN3282 manure spreaders, contact Chet Gibbons, Badger Northland Inc., 1215 Hyland Avenue, P.O. Box 1215, Kaukauna, WI 54130-9986, (414) 766-4603.

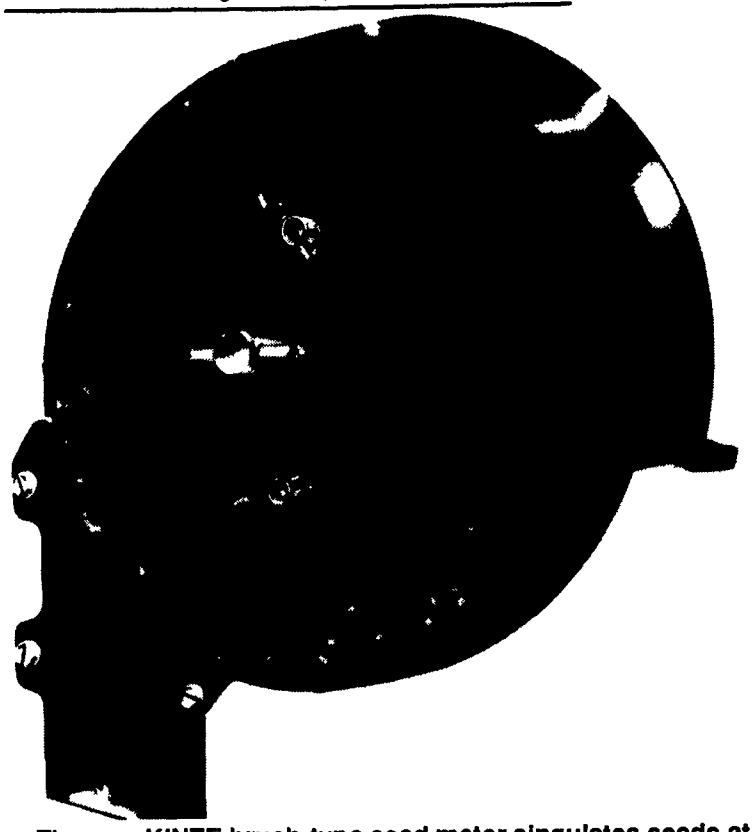
Kinze's System Meters Seed



The new KINZE brush-type seed meter singulates seeds at an accuracy that exceeds earlier mechanical seed meters. A system of brushes fills and gently retains individual seeds in a precision-molded seed disc with specifically designed seed pockets. As the disc rotates vertically within the housing, individual seeds are picked up by the molded seed pocket. The seeds are retained by the brush system until they reach a position immediately over the seed tube, where they are released and allowed to drop down into the seed trench.

WILLIAMSBURG, Iowa — A revolutionary new seed metering system which dramatically increases the planting accuracy for soybeans, cotton (acid-delinted), and milo/grain sorghum, was recently introduced by KINZE Manufacturing, Inc.

The new KINZE brush-type seed meter is a simple, highly accurate metering unit with one moving part. It is capable of singulating seeds at an accuracy that far exceeds earlier mechanical seed meters and also meets or exceeds the accuracy of current air or vacuum seed metering systems.

The unique, mechanically-driven meter consists of a die-cast aluminum housing and a system of brushes that fills and gently retains individual seeds in a precision-molded seed disc with specifically-designed seed pockets.

As the disc rotates vertically within the housing, individual seeds are picked up by the molded seed pocket. The seeds are retained by the brush system until they reach a position immediately over the seed tube where they are released and allowed to drop down into the seed trench.

Available seed discs include a 60-cell soybean disc for seeds from 2,200 to 4,000 seeds per pound; a 30-cell acid-delinted cotton disc for seeds from 4,000 to 5,200 seeds per pound; and a 60-cell milo/grain sorghum disc for seeds from 12,000 to 18,000 seeds per pound.

The KINZE brush-type seed meter is a low-maintenance, long-life component that mounts to the seed hopper of the planter row unit in place of the popular finger-pickup corn meter. No tools are required to remove the seed hopper for seed cleanout or to change seed discs. A central drill shaft drives each meter individually.

The meter will be available on all 1991 KINZE Planters and for limited retrofit sales for plateless planters in the field.

Sunshine Breaks Out For Junior Livestock Sale

GAY N. BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

MEYERSDALE (Somerset Co.) — Steady rains which fell for the first five days of the Somerset County Fair successfully turned parts of the lovely fairgrounds in Meyersdale into intermittent bogs and puddles by the time the popular Junior Livestock sale rolled around on Friday evening.

Just when the bidding started getting lively, the lowering sun cast brilliant rays through the scattering clouds and illuminated the sale arena with brightness.

It was a good omen. Some 180 generous buyers made the event even brighter for FFA and 4-Hers, owners of 344 animals that were swept through the auction by five speedy-tongued auctioneers.

First came the swine, running with lowered heads determined to locate a good place to bore with their snouts. They were followed by the more dainty market lambs standing midst the potted greenery around their small platform. Finally came the masterful looking market steers.

A.J. Walker of Somerset was the premier buyer of the evening, forking out the most cash to buy both the grand champion swine and steer during his buying binge. Asked what he would do with the good looking specimen of beef, A.J. said quite simply, "Eat it!"

The grand champion swine, a Hampshire cross, was owned by Amanda Korns of Hyndman. Its 221 pound weight brought a hefty $8 per pound. Megan Frazee of Fort Hill had the reserve champion, a Yorkshire cross weighing 270 pounds. The hog was sold for $4 a pound to the Somerset Giant Eagle supermarket.

By the time the bidding had ended for the grand champion sheep owned by Heidi Svonavec of Rockwood, the price for the 116-pound Suffolk had soared to $10 a pound. It was sold to the Somerset County Market. Though high, it was not a record breaker. Twelve bucks per pound is the record set a few years ago. Selling the reserve champion market lamb was Steven King of Somerset. A Suffolk cross, the 127-pound sheep was bought by Bedford Ford, Lincoln, Mercury of Bedford. It brought a total price of $508.

The 1,235-pound Chianina cross market steer owned by Mark Witt of Somerset was named grand champion. Bidding was sluggish at first but the prize animal brought $4.50 per pound paid by A.J. Walker of Somerset. Another Chianina Cross with a weight of 1,277 pounds was the reserve champion owned by Kevin Stahl of Somerset. Going for $3 per pound, the animal was bought by Hoss's Steak House in Johnstown.

According to sale statistician, Doyle Paul, 97 percent of the sale animals sold for at least $1 per pound. market swine averaged $1.28 without, and $1.32 with the champion's weight added.

Sales of market lambs averaged $1.25 without, and $1.34 with the added weight of the champion. Moving to the market steers, $1.28 was the average without the champion. However, the additional weight of the champion elevated the average sale price up nine cents to $1.37.

Two of the auctioneers, Robert Stahl and Betty Lou Svonavec, had a very personal interest in the sale. Stahl's grandson and son, respectively, were titled with having the grand and reserve champion market steers.

Betty Lou remarked prior to the sale that the event threatened to challenge her emotions. She said the lambs became pets. It was going to be difficult for her to watch as daughter, Heidi, sold the grand champion.

Other auctioneers sharing the responsibility were Clark Yoder, Matt Luce, and Reed Luce.

Amanda Korns just started in the fifth grade and her grand champion swine was the first winner she ever had. "I felt excited because it was the first time I ever won," she said. Belonging to the White Oak 4-H club, Amanda said she is working on swine projects. They raise 90 hogs and 130 head of beef at the Korns homestead. Her parents are Becky and David Korns. She has an older brother and sister.

Heidi Svonavec, also a fifth grader, had the championship lamb. It topped a banner summer of nice things for the young gal who also chalked up honors for sewing, cooking, and in leadline competition. Active in the High Ridge 4-H Club, Heidi said that the night of the sale she already spent some of her sales money. "I bought an ewe that night from a friend," she said. The woolen outfit of shorts and jacket she wore to sell her ovine were garments that she constructed and will enter in the Make It With Wool contest. With her two brothers, Heidi is the daughter of David and Betty Lou Svonavec from Rockwood.

Football defensive tackle Mark Witt of Somerset is a junior attending the Somerset Vocational Technical school to learn welding. Although his steer was the grand champion, Mark dosen't live on a farm. He says he keeps his animals at the Robert Stahl farm, his grandfather's farm, and is in stiff competition with his uncle Kevin, winner of the reserve champion title. Ironically, the guys are separated by just six weeks in their age, Mark said. He belongs to the Steaks & Chops 4-H Club. Mark said he will probably save the money from the sale of his steer so it can grow for his future college education. He said he was well satisfied with the price his steer brought. Mark is the son of James and Karen Witt and has a brother and sister.

Is Corn Ready To Harvest?

DEKALB, Ill. — An early spring and delayed planting means many farmers are concerned whether their corn crop will be ready to harvest before the first frost.

The greatest problem will exist where full-season hybrids were planted slightly northy of their adapted zones, sais Robert McCauley, regional agronomist for DeKalb Plant Genetics. In some areas of the Corn Belt, corn maturity in mid August was as much as 10 days behind normal. Many acres of corn, especially in the northern half of the region, were stull in the full milk stage by this time, he notes.

But the last two weeks of August and early September were warmer than normal with high temperatures above 90 degrees. That has been a great boon to development, and a large number of acres are already beginning to dent, McCauley said.

As corn begins to mature, the "moisture line" progresses down from the cap of the kernel to the tip. When the grain moisture level reaches 28 to 35 percent, a black layer developes across the top of the kernel, said McCauley, which indicates physiological maturity of the grain. That is the point where the grain has accumulated all of its dry matter and only grain drydown will now occur, he said.

"If a killing frost occurs at grain moisture levels in the range of 40 percent or greater, moisture loss is slow and difficult," the agronomist said. "Usually it takes two or more frosts of less than 30 degrees to damage the grain. But high moisture in the leaves and stalk will help protect the grain from first frost. It's subsequent frosts which generally do the real damage."

Grain moisture affects yield. This year farmers are concerned about higher fuel costs due to the Middle East crisis. Many are now considering letting corn fields dry as much as possible before harvesting. That can cause problems.

Research has shown that hybrids reach their peak yield at various moisture levels. "On the average, the peak yield performance level is at a harvest moisture of 24 to 28 percent, and yield levels drop between 0.7 and 1.5 bushels for every point below that level," McCauley said. "Fixed-ear-type hybrids generally are at the lower end of this decrease and longer, flexing-ear types are toward the higher end."

Other factors can affect harvest yield. First corn borer infestations have been extremely high this year and treatment has been difficult because egg laying has occurred over a longer period.

"Any corn borer that has entered the shank or stalk will cause premature death of the stalk and reduce ear retention," McCauley said.

Second, some areas may get average to above average yield performance. But McCauley said that as corn yield levels increase, stalk quality decreases because of higher sugar demand of the developing ear and grain.

Hoffman Wheat Tops Trials

LANDISVILLE (Lancaster Co.)— Hoffman 28 and Hoffman 89, two wheat varieties produced by Hoffman Seeds, Inc., were top finishers in Pennsylvania State University trials conducted in Lancaster and Centre counties.

Hoffman 28 was the top yielding variety in Lancaster County (Landisville) at 102 bu/A.

Hoffman 89 featured the two best test weights in the trial. In Centre County (Rock Springs), it led all other varieties with a bushel weight of 60.1 pounds/bu, while in Lancaster County it produced a high of 56.8 pounds/bu.

Seed supplies of both varieties will be limited. For more information, contact Hoffman Seeds, Inc., Landisville, PA 17538, (800) 776-7929.

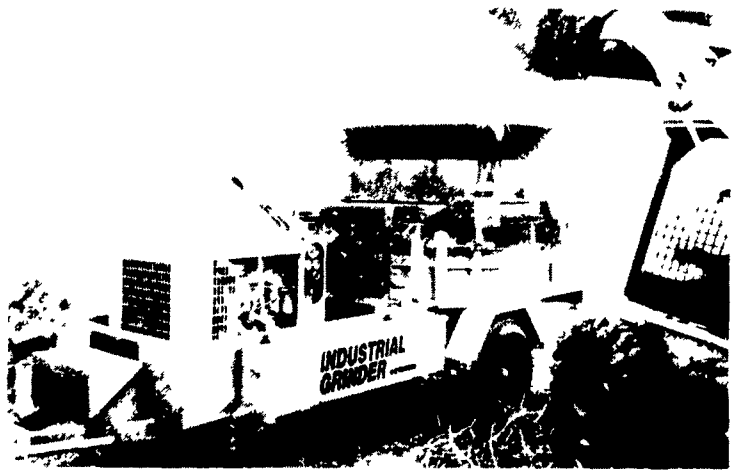
Haybuster Brings Out Grinder

JAMESTOWN, N.D.— Haybuster Manufacturing announces the introduction of a new industrial grinder, the I.G. 7.

The Haybuster I.G. 7 is especially suited to grinding tree limbs six inches in diameter and smaller into valuable compost, landscape mulch, wood fuel, or a variety of organic products.

The I.G. 7 features a variety of screen sizes to provide the desired size of end product. A heavy-duty 27½" long cylinder with half-inch A.B. hardened hammers easily processes yard waste and other demolition lumber into a compact, consistently-sized end product.



The Haybuster industrial grinder (I.G. 7) grinds tree limbs six inches in diameter and smaller into valuable compost, landscape mulch, wood fuel, or a variety of organic products.

The tub can be loaded with any skid steer loader and the end product is delivered on a conveyor which is 7'6" long and 18" wide.

An electro-hydraulic sensoring governor maximizes grinding efficiency and prevents clogging. The overall height of the Haybuster I.G. 7 is 6'8", the length is 16', and the width is 7'2". It is completely portable and is easily pulled with a half-ton pickup. The I.G. 7 is powered by a diesel engine and is completely self-contained.

Cumberland Team Captures State Judging Award

CARLISLE (Cumberland Co.) — At the State 4-H Achievement Day held at Penn State University, Cumberland County's Senior Livestock Judging Team captured the state championship in livestock judging.

The team consisted of Michael Cornman, Jennifer Miller, Diane Myers, and Stacy Suffel. The team is coached by Duff George and Dianne Conaway.

Through livestock judging, 4-H members learn to identify the different breeds of livestock; compare livestock for their merit and value as either breeding or market animals; look at an animal and determine its desirable characteristics and faults; make decisions and defend them in a logical, well organized manner; improve their livestock project by selecting more desirable animals and gain an appreciation of their value for a particular purpose; make more complex decisions based on all of the information available; and appreciate the opinions of others.

Michael Cornman, 16, the son of Melvin and Betty Cornman of Carlisle, has been a 4-H member for nine years. In addition to livestock judging, Mike is a member of the Cumberland County Sharp Shooters, Central Penn Swine Club, Conodoguient Sheep Club, County Council Treasurer, and a member of the Big Spring FFA Chapter. Mike raises purebred Duroc swine and registered Suffolk sheep.

Jennifer Miller, 16, the daughter of James and Linda Miller of Newville, has been a 4-H member for four years. She belongs to the Central Penn Swine Club, Bonny Brook Riding Club, Pennsylvania High School Rodeo Association, and is a member of the Big Spring FFA Chapter. Jennifer raises Quarter Horses, Milking Shorthorns, and feeder pigs.

A junior at Big Spring High School, Jennifer is a member of the concert band and the secretary of the FFA Chapter.

Diane Myers, 16, a daughter of Richard and Ethel Myers of Boiling Springs, has been a 4-H member for nine years. In addition to livestock judging she belongs to 4-H Flying Fingers, Conodoguinet Sheep Club, and is Assistant Treasurer for the County Council.

Diane has her own flock of registered Shropshire sheep and helps with the family Holstein herd.

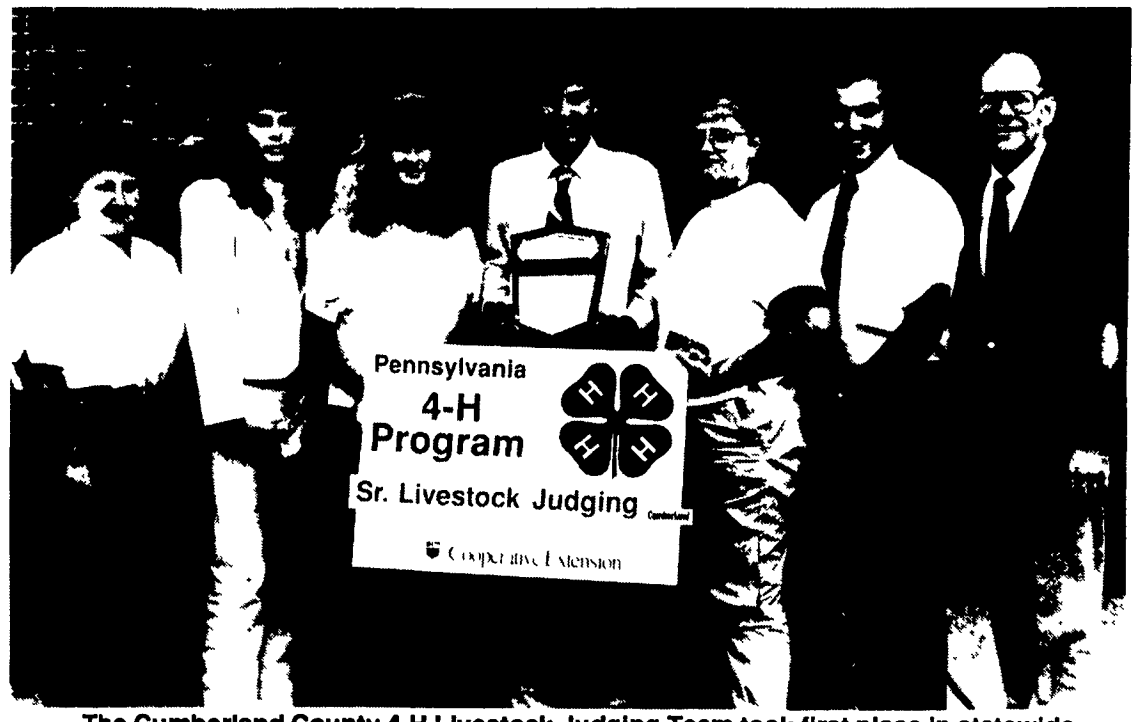
A sophomore at Boiling Springs High School, Diane participates in marching and concert band.

Stacy Suffel, 16, the daughter of John and Shirley Suffel, Carlisle, has been a 4-H member for eight years. She is a member of the Cumberland County Beef Club and Conodoguinet Sheep Club. Stacy raises her own flocks of registered Dorset and Hampshire sheep.

A junior at Carlisle High School, Stacy participates in basketball and softball. She is also a member of SADD and the National Honor Society.

Stacy was the high individual in the senior division of the livestock judging contest.

Kim Hopple of Mechanicsburg, a senior at Penn State majoring in ag business management, was a summer assistant coach. Kim will be a member of the Penn State Livestock Judging Team this fall.



The Cumberland County 4-H Livestock Judging Team took first place in statewide competition on August 6-8 on Penn State's University Park campus. The annual competition is part of Penn State 4-H Achievement Days. Pictured from left are Dianne Conaway, Newville, coach; Jennifer Miller, Newville; Stacy Suffel, Carlisle; Michael Cornman, Carlisle; Diane Myers, Boiling Springs; Duff George, Shippensburg coach; and Dr. Alan Snider, Penn State.

Duff George of Shippensburg has been coaching the team for four years. A graduate of Penn State in animal science, he was a member of the Penn State collegiate livestock and meats judging teams. He is employed by Purina Mills, Inc., Camp Hill as a district manager. As a 4-H alumni of Cumberland County, he participated in livestock judging and was a member of the Conodoguinet Sheep Club.

Duff raises and trains working Border Collies and has a small flock of commercial sheep.

Dianne Conaway of Newville has been coaching the team for seven years. She is a graduate of Penn State in elementary education. She is a leader of the Conodoguinet Sheep Club and president of the Cumberland County Livestock Sale Committee.

As a 4-H alumni of Cumberland County, Dianne was a member of the Conodoguinet Sheep Club and participated in public speaking.

Dianne is a 4th grade teacher at Blain Elementary in the West Perry School District. She and her husband John raise registered Suffolk sheep and Christmas trees.

The Cumberland County Livestock Judging team will continue to represent Pennsylvania on the regional and national level: Eastern States Livestock Exposition, "Big E" Springfield, Massachusetts; Keystone INternational Livestock Exposition, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania; Eastern National Livestock Exposition, Timonium, Maryland.

We're the ones to see for quality, long-lasting tillage parts.

Fall Fertilizer Application Saves Time, Money

DEKALB, Ill. — Applying fertilizer this fall is just one way you can get a jump on spring fieldwork, said Dick Bohling, manager, agronomic services for DeKalb Plant Genetics.

"From research, we know it's important to our profitability to get half our corn planter in April, so we don't want to have to put fertilizer on then," he said. "We want to get those planters rolling."

Bohling points out three additional benefits to a fall application of nutrients:

- Fertilizer tends to be cheaper in the fall;
- Soils are generally better suited to tillage work, and;
- Equipment is readily available.

"I recommend that if you go with dry or liquid nitrogen in the fall you use tillage to incorporate it if possible," Bohling said. "Some people apply ammonia with a chisel plow, and that's idea."

Though he encourages farmers to make fall applications of feretilizer, Bohling acknowledges that leaching is a potential downside. However, he believes by exercising some caution, farmers can avoid any negative impact from the practice.

"The best way to protect fall-applied nitrogen is to apply it when the soil temperature is 50 cegrees Fahrenheit or less, usually about Nov. 1," he said. "Farmers can also apply a nitrogen stabalizer that will help protect the ammonium nitrogen from conversion to the leachable nitrate form."

Compaction is another concern farmers often have, but Bohling said freezing minimizes that particular problem. "The benefit of having the nutrients already in the soil and breaking down the crop residue far outweighs a little compaction," he said, "not to mention the time you'll be saving to ensure planting on time next spring."

In addition, Bohling says farmers must know which crops they're planting in specific fields next spring in order to apply the right nutrients. "It's not very economical if you apply fertilizer without knowing what's going in those fields, he said.

Cover Your Soil

DAUPHIN (Dauphin Co.)— Cover your soil with a cover crop this fall. That is the advice of Burell Whitworth Jr. of the USDA Soil Conservation Service.

Some crops in Dauphin County will be harvested for silage or the stalks are harvested and used for bedding. As a result, unless a cover crop is used, the soil is virtually unprotected during the winter months.

A cover is needed to protect the soil in these situations. "Cover crops can save as much as five tons of soil per acre on a typical soil in Dauphin County," said Whitworth.

The no-till method of planting can provide even more soil savings. Annual rye is usually planted as a cover crop but wheat and barley can also be used. On set-aside acres, a farmer may interseed sweet clover next spring to provide nitrogen to the following crop in the rotation.

Cover crops protect the soil from erosion, adds organic matter, provides additional feed for livestock, builds nutrients for future crops, and provides competition for weeds which helps to control them.

Taking advantage of these benefits by planting a cover crop this fall is a good management decision. Cost-share is also available through the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Contact your local ASCS office for details.

4-Hers Prepare

CLAYTON, N.J. — 4-H livestock club members from all over New Jersey are hoping to put a steak in your future.

They are getting ready for the 1990 State 4-H Baby Beef Show and Sale, October 13 and 14, to be held at the Cumberland County Fairgrounds.

Gerry Leonarski, program assistant for Gloucester County 4-H and livestock program and a member of the planning committee said this is the first time in the 52-year history of this state event that it will be held in Cumberland County.

This annual beef show and sale culminates a year of hard work and skills learned by the 4-H boys and girls involved. Many different breeds of cattle, such as Angus, Polled Hereford, Charolais and Simmental, will arrive in Cumberland from all over the state on Friday evening, October 12 and Saturday morning, October 13. These animals will be housed in the 140-foot 4-H livestock building at the fairgrounds.

Everyone is invited to watch the 4-H beef show set for Saturday, October 13, beginning at 1 p.m. Judges will award ribbons and prizes and grand and reserve champions will be picked. The third annual South Jersey Pumpkin Show and Arts and Crafts Festival, sponsored by New Horizon Productions, will also be attracting visitors to the fairgrounds on October 11-14.

According to Julie Higgins, chairperson of the State 4-H Beef Advisory Council and Robert Mickel, Somerset County agricultural agent and state beef show coordinator, these animals are all blue-ribbon quality beef.

Late-Planted Corn Requires Special Attention

NEWARK, Del. — The University of Delaware integrated pest management scouts have found high numbers of corn earworms and fall armyworm moths in Sussex County. Extension agent Derby Walker urges individual farmers to scout their soybean, sorghum, and lima bean fields for these pests over the next two weeks until danger of damage is past.

"Scouting pays for itself," Walker said. "If you find numbers below the threshold levels, you'll save yourself the time and money that spraying requires, as well as prevent unnecessary use of pesticides. On the other hand, if you don't scout and your fields are infested, you risk losing your crop."

Corn earworm larvae can vary in color from light greenish yellow to red or brown with distinct longitudinal cream-colored bands and an amber-colored head, said Joanne Whalen, extension IPM specialist. Young larvae feed on terminal leaves, flowers, and small pods. Older earworms (greater than 1/2 inch long) prefer to feed on the pods, particularly during pod fill. Heavy infestation (10 or more worms per foot of row) may result in complete yield loss.

Fall armyworm larvae vary in color from light tan to green to black. Along each side of an armyworm is a black stripe, and down the middle of its back is a wider yellowish gray strip with four black dots on each segment. The head capsule is dark brown with a prominent inverted Y on the front. Young larvae also feed on the foliage and older armyworms feed on the pods in the same manner as the corn earworm.

Walker says treatment is warranted when more than two worms are found per sorghum head, one to two worms per foot row in wide-row soybeans, or one per foot in narrow-row soybeans. Treat lima beans in which you find 6 to 10 worms per 60 feet of row.

"The soybeans most at risk are the late-planted beans in the ones that did not close the rows," Walker said. "Full-season soybeans will probably be all right.

"If you detect levels that should be controlled, begin an immediate application," he said. "But always check the labels for harvest and application restrictions."

Lima beans can be sprayed with either Lannate or Sevin. The agent says Lannate is the preferred treatment because it will control both the corn earworm and fall armyworm. Sevin may not control larger earworms. Corn earworms on soybeans will respond to Sevin, Asana, Scout, Lannate, Penncap-M, Pounce, Ambush, or Larvin. He suggests Lannate and Larvin as good choices for large populations of fall armyworms. Sevin, Lorsban, or Lannate may be used on sorghum.

MAKE MONEY NOW WITH PURIDINE™

Has summer moisture and mud raised your Somatic Cell Counts? If so remember that the higher the price of milk the more it pays to defeat Cell Count.

A cell count of 400,000 or a linear score of 5 can cost a cow 1200 lbs. of milk per lactation. At $15.00 milk this will cost you $180.00 per cow while Puridine only costs 2-3¢ per day to use.

Consider These Benefits

- ✔ Predip and post dip- dilute 3/1 to make a .25% product
  lowest cost in the industry
- ✔ Post dip only- use straight
- ✔ Best cling
- ✔ Iodine is the strongest germ killer on the market

Talk To Your Puridine™ dealer in September while he has the lowest prices on Puridine in the last 10 years.
